AMERICA LEADS.

Foreigners Coming to the United States for Railway Cars.

American Material and American Labor the Best for the Whole World.

Then Why Should We Fear Foreign Competition?—Tear Down the Tariff Wall and Extend Our Trade.

New York, Oct. 3.—In the matter of railroad cars England is becoming so much Americanized that it is sending over here to have us build them of American wood, steel and iron by American labor.

The steamship Tower Hill, of the Wilson line, which sailed this morning, carried a complete train of six drawing room cars for the Southeastern railway.

They are altogether American except in size. They were built by the Gilbert Car company and are necessarily smaller than American cars because of the smaller tunnel through which they will pass. They are not much wider than an elevated road car and are 55 feet long. Cars on American roads are 61 feet long and 14 feet 6 inches high. Those for the English road are 12 feet high.

The interior woodwork is antique oak, wih French upholstering and silk curtains. The train includes a buffet car. The novel feature is the Baker hot water heater.

Railroad cars in England are now seldom heated. At intervals porters bring in tin boxes full of hot water for passengers to put their feet on. The trucks are American style, but the buffers are English.

The train will be lighted by an electric storage battery. The Southeastern company intends to run the cars exclusively for the Paris and seacoast travel.

The train will be considerably heavier than any yet run in England and the English engineer may find it hard work to carry it along on time. Many English cars are built of solid steel.

The cars, packed for shipping, are in pieces and are boxed up. It took two canal boats to carry the boxes from Troy. They were transferred from the boats to the steamship yesterday. An employe of the Gilbert company will go with the cars to England to superintend putting them up.

THE DEFIANCE RIOTERS.

Their Case on Trial in the Common Pleas Court.

The Whole Story of the Assault on Janitor Moll Liable to Come Out in the Evidence.

Defiance, Oct. 3.—(Special)—The case of the state v. Frank Ferguson and W. F. Dolke, for riot, is being heard in common pleas court.

These gentlemen were indicted in connection with fifteen others for participating in a riot the evening before the body of Janitor John H. Moll was found on the Wabash railroad track.

The attention of the court was occupied Thursday and Friday in the selection of a jury.

There have been 35 witnesses subpoenaed to give evidence in the case and the trial will be an interesting one from the start to the finish.

Prosecutor Woods is being assisted by John W. Slough.

Messrs. Enos, Harris, Cameron, Hill and Hubbard are for the defendants.

Dolke and Ferguson have been granted a separate trial from the rest and it is inferred that this will be a test case.

The court room is crowded daily with spectators, and the court has ordered the witnesses separated.

The attorneys are stubbornly contesting every inch of the case which will probably not be finished until next week some time.

RUSSIA'S BLUFF.

England Not Alarmed at Her Threats.

The Czar's Real Objective is Constantinople.

Attempt to Kill Francis Joseph Discussed.

St. Petersburg Would Not Mourn His Loss.

Liberal Leaders Disappointed With Gladstone's Speech—Pilgrims Returning—General Foreign News.

London, Oct. 3.—No importance is attached by the British foreign office to Russia's threat of hostility in Asia, unless England consents to come to terms with Russia in Europe.

A retired official of the foreign office said to-day that substantially the same menace was held out by the Emperor Nicholas before the Crimean war, to induce England to wink at an onslaught by Russia on Turkey, but the British government refused either to be coerced or cajoled, and Russia was beaten in the war that followed.

The ex-official said he believed Russia's object in making the threat was to clear the deck for a descent on Constantinople by way of the Balkans and with the co-operation of the Russian Black sea force.

The Francis Joseph Incident.

A Vienna dispatch says that the impression is gaining ground that Russian enmity to Austria and Germany had something to do with the attempt to assassinate Francis Joseph.

While it is not believed that the czar, or any other European prince would wink at the attempted assassination of another ruler, yet the Russian secret service has, it is well known, taken a leading part in such conspiracies, as witness the Penitza plot, which, when detected in time, was aimed at the life of Prince Ferdinand of Bulgaria.

It has been thought that the lesson given in the execution of Ferdinand's would-be assassin would deter people from such conspiracies thereafter; but there is reason to assume that Russian intrigue is also at the bottom of the plan to destroy the ruler of the Austro-Hungarian empire.

The authorities are determined to probe the conspiracy to the bottom and will have no scruples it employing any method of getting to the truth.

Liberal Leaders Disappointed.

A New Castle dispatch says the liberal leaders are disappointed with Mr. Gladstone's speech.—They think he gave too much time to Irish home rule and too little to English affairs, and that he did not place himself in line with the program so far adopted by the federation.

Even his threat against the house of lords was qualified by the statement that it was only to be considered as meaning anything in the event of the lords rejecting Irish home rule.

The rank and file of the party are not willing to have home rule put in front of all other questions. They say that is exactly what the tories want, and it split the liberal party. The fact is noted that Gladstone was seldom cheered while in the Irish part of his address.

Holy Coat Pilgrims.

A Treves dispatch says the city is fast being emptied of Holy Coat pilgrims, and the roads in the country for long distance are thronged with them, thousands preferring to go home on foot. The exhibition has netted a large sum of money, but the English and other tourists are said to have been more profitable for the church than the pilgrims, most of whom lived in poor fashion and seemed to have little money.

Very elaborate preparations are being made for the silver wedding of the czar in Denmark. In order to spare the slender purse of the Danish king, the czar has ordered that the festal preparations be made at his own expense.

UNITED IRELAND.

Mr. Fox's Mission to the United States.

He Will Explain the Situation Abroad and Ask for More American Funds.

Queenstown, Oct. 3.—Mr. J. F. Fox, M. P., an anti-Parnellite, has sailed for New York by the Germanic for the purpose of resuming his mission to the United States, which is to lay before the American people the exact state of affairs in Ireland, and also to confer with the members of the national federation party as to the best way of raising funds for the approaching general election and for the relief of the evicted tenants.

Mr. Fox is sent on this special mission by the committee of the Irish federation party. The parliamentary fund committee of New York and other like bodies are unanimous in the belief that the money lying in Paris, and subscribed solely for the benefit of the people of Ireland and evicted tenants, should be applied to its original purpose.

Mr. Fox denies that Mr. Fitzgerald, president of the league in America, was in favor of Mr. Parnell, and regrets Mr. Fitzgerald's illness, trusting, however, that he will soon recover and be able to employ his valuable services in the cause of his country.

THE CONVICT MINERS.

Judge Sneed Holds the Sub-Lease Illegal.

Belief Among the Lawyers That the Supreme Court Will Confirm the Order.

Knoxville, Tenn., Oct. 3.—A case came before the Knox county criminal court yesterday on a writ of habeas corpus which is an attempt to do by law what the Briceville miners recently attempted to do by violence—prevent convicts from being worked in any mines in the state.

The convicts at Briceville are subleased and the lawyers for the miners assert this to be illegal. They induced a white convict sentenced for murder, to sue for a writ of habeas corpus. Yesterday Judge Sneed rendered a decision, which, if affirmed by the supreme court, now in session, will cause all convicts in East Tennessee to be removed to the state penitentiary. Lawyers believe that the order of the lower court will be confirmed.

CAN'T KEEP OUT OF JAIL.

President Dill Having a Hard Time of It.

Clearfield, Pa., Oct. 3.—President Dill, of the suspended First National bank of this place, and of the private bank at Houtzdale, which also suspended, and John B. McGrath, cashier of the latter bank, who were arrested on the charge of embezzlement entered bail.

Mr. Dill was at once rearrested on a warrant sworn out by National Bank Examiner Miller, who is in charge of the First National bank, and held in $25,000 bail. He has as yet been unable to obtain bondsmen.

The report that Mr. Dill has made an assignment is incorrect, but judgments aggregating $30,000 have been entered against him. Twenty-six thousand dollars of these judgments are held in trust for his wife. It is said that several more warrants for the arrest of Dill will be sworn out.

BAD BANK FAILURE.

Paris, Oct. 3.—The Standiford Bros. bank failure at Chrisman is getting worse. The depositors will lose everything they had in the bank, and there is a long list of them. One farmer alone loses $15,000. James A. Eads was yesterday appointed receiver of the defunct bank. The Standifords are supposed to be in Chicago, and officers are scouring that city for them. It is alleged that they took $75,000 with them when they left.

BUCYRUS MAN MISSING.

Bucyrus, O., Oct. 3.—Charles E. Teeterick, a fireman on 6th Toledo and Ohio Central, has been missing for over a week. He left here on Monday, September 21, on a run to Toledo, and was last seen buying some novelties in one of the stores of Toledo for his wife and children. He had just drawn a month's pay and it is thought he may have been murdered.

THE LOST PENNONIA.

Apia, Samoa, Sept. 16.—The Pennonia reported lost with all hands some months ago has been heard from. She was wrecked on one of the islands of the Marshall group May 4. All on board escaped to the shore, and after much exposure and suffering reached Apia in safety and left on the steamer Monowall for San Francisco. The Pennonia was a total wreck.

LOOKED DEATH IN THE FACE

Narrow Escape From Wreck on the C., H. & D.

A Passenger Train Strikes a Traction Engine and Reduces It to Scrap Iron in Short Order.

Lima, O., Oct. 3.—The southbound passenger train No. 1 on the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton road had a miraculous escape from a frightful wreck near Dayton yesterday morning.

There are a number of short curves just before Dayton is reached and just as engine No. 104 darted around one of the curves about five miles from Dayton, Engineer Sam Craig saw a traction engine, which a farmer was taking from one side of the road to the other, stalled on the track.

The train was only about two lengths away and as the train could not be stopped in that short distance the engineer stood at his post, expecting when the crash came to be hurled to death as well as the passengers who were unconscious of their danger.

Fortunately the pilot of the locomotive struck the engine directly between the wheels and threw it from the track.

Just as the collision came the boiler exploded with terrific force, but fortunately no damage of a serious nature was done.

The wrecked traction engine was thrown from the track far enough to allow the train to pass, but the entire left side of the cars were terribly disfigured. The trainmen say that this was the most miraculous escape they ever had.

THE BARREL WAS LOADED.

Waparkoneta, O., Oct. 3.—(Special)—Last night Henry Stackler, a farmer living several miles west of this city bought an empty whisky barrel. He took it home, intending to cleanse it and use it for cider. When he arrived home he poured some chemicals in the barrel and without removing the head thrust a piece of lighted paper in the bung-hole. A terrific explosion followed, blowing the barrel to pieces. A portion of the barrel struck the unfortunate man in the face, breaking his nose, injuring his eyes and fracturing his skull.

BROKE UP IN A ROW.

Stormy Annexation Meeting ing in Windsor.

The Talk Was All Right, But the Resolutions Almost Precipitated a Riot.

Windsor, Ont., Oct. 3.—A meeting was held here to discuss annexation to the United States under the auspices of the Continental club. F. J. Boutellier, county warden, was elected chairman. Speeches were made by Mr. Brien, ex-member of parliament for South Essex, and Sol White. A letter from Goldwin Smith was read. The question was fully discussed by the speakers and listened to by an audience of about 1,000. At the end of the speech by Sol White, B. G. Davis, ex-alderman of Windsor, read a resolution favoring annexation, and when the chairman put the question the meeting broke up with a confusion of cries for and against.

NOTABLE PAVING CASE.

Liability of Street Car Companies to be Tested.

Are They Obliged to Pave the Space Between Their Tracks as the City Shall So Order.

Philadelphia, Oct. 3.—It is confidently expected that when the supreme court convenes in this city next week a decision will be handed down in the case of the City versus the Ridge Avenue Passenger Railway company, in which is involved the question of the right of the city to compel the passenger railway to repave the streets occupied by their tracks with decent pavements.

The decision involves also several hundred thousand dollars, and is awaited with considerable interest not only by the officials of the city but by those of the various railway companies as well.

In 1881 the city by ordinance forbade the use of cobble-stones in new paving, being the last of the cities of any size in the United States to abandon such pavements.

Repaving with improved material was begun, and from that time up to 1890 she had expended $1,404,836.70 in replacing cobble-stones with something better.

From 1881 to 1886 the city vainly endeavored to induce the companies to do something toward keeping pace with this repaving, but without success. Finally the city notified the Ridge Avenue line to repair Ninth street from Race to Sergeant.

No attention was paid to this notice, and the city did the work at a cost of $821.20. Suit was instituted for the recovery of this amount, and after long delays and the raising of side issues the case was argued and a verdict given in the city's favor in November, 1890.

The case was subsequently appealed to the supreme court.

If the decision shall be favorable to the city it will recover the several hundred thousand dollars it has already spent in repaving streets occupied by railway companies, and will be able to compel the companies to do the work hereafter at their own expense. If the city loses, it will still have the pavements to show for its money.

GEO. W. LEIBIUS.

The Talented Young Toledo Tenor Will Adopt the Professional Stage.

George W. Leibius, of this city, who has time and again delighted Toledo audiences with his voice, will shortly leave for Pittsburg, where he will join one of W. H. Power's companies, The Ivy Leaf or the Fairies Well, as treasurer and tenor soloist.

Mr. Leibius has just returned from Detroit, where he closed a contract with Mr. Powers. That gentleman was delighted with his voice on hearing him sing.

Mr. Leibius is at present singing tenor in the Trinity church choir. He has a remarkably fine voice, a high sweet flexible tenor, peculiarly adapted to stage work. He is sure to make a success.

Mr. Leibius leaves next week, and will take with him the best wishes of his many Toledo friends.

TRUSTS AND TRAMPS

Are the Natural Results of a High Tariff.

Campbell's Ringing Address at Bellaire.

Ten Thousand Workingmen Assemble to Do Honor to the Man Who Is Fighting in a Noble Cause.

Bel., Oct. 3.—At the conclusion of Mr. Campbell's speech at St. Clairsville, Mr. Sidwell made a masterly address on the tariff.

The crowd about the speaker's stand in this city last night numbered fully 10,000.

It was the largest meeting ever held in Bellaire, and republicans readily admitted that it eclipsed the republican meetings that have been held in this section of the state.

The meeting was presided over by Hon. W. Arnett, who introduced Gov. Campbell in a few well-chosen words, and it was some time before the applauding audience would permit him to speak.

The governor immediately plunged into the tariff question and asked the workingmen of Bellaire how many of them had their wages increased since the McKinley law went into effect, and what they had done with their surplus money.

One of the auditors who is employed in a glass house, informed the governor that wages had not been increased, but, on the contrary, they had been reduced.

The governor admonished his informant that he had better be careful, else he would be accused of being a "calamity croaker," as he himself had gotten into that kind of trouble for telling the truth out in open meeting. The governor was in a very happy mood and kept his audience in a constant uproar.

"I am told," said he, "that Gen. Goff came here a few days ago and told you that if they had Major McKinley over in West Virginia they would make him governor by acclamation and not hold an election. Well, that's more than they did for Goff. If Brother Goff can assure Major McKinley on this point he will probably move over into West Virginia right away, as he is having a tough time of it here in Ohio." (Applause.)

The governor then took up the tariff on glass, this being a great glass section. He made point after point against the McKinley bill's glass schedule and paid his respects to the Pittsburg glass manufacturers who have undertaken to instruct the Ohio voters.

In speaking of trusts the governor said this country had no tramps or trusts in the days of low democratic tariff. He denounced the United Glass company as a trust in fact if not in name.

"How about Carnegie?" asked one of the audience, and the governor proceeded to tell how the Carnegie works had notified their men of a reduction. "I tell you Carnegie will be sick when he hears the election returns from Ohio."

"So will McKinley," said a voice.

"No," responded the governor, "I will give the major credit with not having the same selfish interest in the campaign as Carnegie. McKinley's interest in the Ohio campaign is dollars where Carnegie's is thousands.

"I was much startled today and feared for the welfare of the employes of the American 'tin' plate mills, when I read that some fellow had invented a scheme to reduce by one-half the labor employed by the 'tin' plate establishment.

The greatest tin manufacturer in America is Mr. Neidringhans, of St. Louis. He employes one Welshman and a boy. Now I am considerably excited to know whether Neidringhans when he puts in this patent will dispense with the services of the Welshman or will he let the boy go." (Applause.)

The governor then took up the potter industry and called attention to the pottery schedules of the McKinley law. He produced a telegram from Gov. Abbett of New Jersey, in which he directly denied the statements made by manufacturers and repeated by Major McKinley on the stump. He said:

"The tariff on pottery was increased by the McKinley law, and as soon as congress adjourned the manufacturers of pottery began to reduce wages and kept it up till an average reduction of 15 per cent. was made. In the meantime the prices of goods were increased 7 per cent. This caused a strike among the men employed in manufacturing sanitary pottery, but after a fight for five months they were compelled to compromise on an 8 per cent. cut, and then the manufacturers run their establishments on half time. At East Liverpool they don't reduce the pay, as Major McKinley has taken the trouble to deny and which I didn't charge in my Sidney speech.

But I did and do charge that they manipulated the shapes and sizes of the work so as to get more work out of the men—not a direct reduction in wages but the same thing in effect. The potters at East Liverpool are the worst imposed on set of workingmen in the state of Ohio. A republican state commissioner of labor has so testified in an official report."

THE ILLINOIS DEBT.

Bulletin Issued by the Census Bureau.

Three Hundred and Eighty-Four Million Dollars in Mortgages on the State.

Washington, Oct. 3.—The census office to-day made a statement showing that the real estate mortgage debt in Illinois Jan. 1, 1890 was $384,269,299, of which $165,289,222, was on acre tracts, and $219,010,038, on village and city lots.

The debt of Cook county, containing Chicago, was $191,518,209, of which $14,065,305 was on acres and $177,452,904 on lots. The debt of seven other principal counties was as follows: Kane, $5,515,508; LaSalle, $5,960,488; McLean, $5,379,309; Peoria, $5,088,872; St. Clair, $5,134,309; Sangamon, $5,851,540 and Will $5,465,917.

The Cook county debt is 49.084 per cent. of the debt of the state.

The debt of eight counties named is 60.06 per cent. of the total. Fifteen principal counties, in which are included the preceding eight and Adams, Bureau, Champaign, Iroquois, Livingston, Vermillion and Winnebago counties owe $262,221,092 of the sate's total debt.

TERRA COTTA TOP-KNOTS

There are Four Million in the Country.

The Information Costs Millions of Dollars.

Results Obtained by Census Taker Porter and His Army of 50,000 High Salaried Men.

Washington, Oct. 3.—(Special)—United States census statistics, which will soon be published, show that there are about 4,000,000 red-headed people in the United States.

This vast army does not include in its ranks persons whose hair is of a reddish tint, or even auburn or golden-haired people.

It simply includes those who have the undeniable right to get mad when some unsympathetic boy taunts them in public on the terra-cotta tint of their top-knots.

It has cost the government hundreds of thousands of dollars to obtain this information, and in order to make the census complete Mr. Porter should go on and state what causes red hair, and inform the people how to dye their hair, and then double up with some blown-in-the-bottle patent medicine company, and the farce would be complete.

WE'RE GAME TO THE LAST

American Sealers Declare War on Russia.

A Battle on Board a Big Man-of-War.

The Odds Were in Favor of the Foreigner and the Plucky Americans Were Taken Prisoners.

San Francisco, Oct. 3.—A letter from Unnalaska, dated September 22, gives further details of the capture of the American sealing schooner J. Hamilton Lewis by the Russians for poaching about Copper island. The news was brought to Unnalaska by the steamer Dolphin.

After the American schooner had been brought to by a shot which lodged in her hull, Capt. McLean, of the Lewis, was ordered to come aboard the Russian cruiser Aleut. He took with him all his crew and a free fight ensued on the man-of-war.

The Americans were finally overpowered and sent under guard to Vladivostock. The seized schooner was taken there by a prize crew. The Russians are said to be much excited over this bold raid on their seal rookeries, and, it is said, severe punishment will be dealt out to the captured Americans.

THE TROUBLE IN MEXICO.

Foreign Soldiers Invade Uncle Sam's Territory.

Garcia Evidently Has a Greater Following than Diaz's Government Is Wont to Credit.

San Antonio, Tex., Oct. 3.—United States Consul Richardson at Matamoras, Mexico, telegraphed Gen. Stahley yesterday as follows:

"I have been informed by Gen. Lajero that 180 men have crossed from Mexico into Texas for the purpose of meeting Gen. Sandoval, who is bringing them supplies of arms, ammunition and money.

He also informs me that the chiefs of police of Laredo and Lueva Laredo have traced Sandoval to New Orleans, where he went in the interest of the Garcia movement, and Gen. Lajero wishes me to communicate with the United States authorities with the request that they endeavor to apprehend Sandoval before he reaches the border.

"There is great apprehension here that Garcia has more support than he appears to have."

The Gen. Lajero referred to is the commander of the Mexican troops in the Rio Grande department.

BISHOP DUBBS' CASE.

Believed That It Will be Opened at Indianapolis.

Bishop Esher Demands a Full Investigation of the Charges Placed Against Him.

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 3.—The German evangelical conference opened yesterday morning with a carefully prepared statement by Bishop Esher of the many troubles into which the church has been thrown, and an appeal to the conference to try him upon the charges that had been made against him, among them being that of slander in alluding to ministers.

A resolution was adopted for the appointment of a committee to suggest a mode of action in the premises.

The case of Bishop Dubbs was then called up and Bishop Ghodich said he was chairman of the conference that tried Bishop Dubbs, it was his duty to say that the bishop had been regularly tried, found guilty and suspended.

The minutes of the trial were then read and a committee was named to take all the facts into consideration and report to the conference. This is believed to be a step in the direction of opening the Dubbs case.

THE IDLEWILD'S LAST TRIP.

A Splendid Season on the Toledo-Detroit Route.

The last trip of the season for the steamer Idlewild will be made to Detroit to-morrow, and if the present fine weather holds out it is probable that she will take a large crowd. The Idlewild has had a remarkably successful season this year, which goes to show that more people travel by water every year.

When the steamer went on the route last spring considerable disappointment was felt in this city because the big Greyhound did not return, and predictions were freely made that the Idlewild would not be patronized. The handsome steamer, with Capt. Moore, soon overcame all prejudice, however, and Agent Canfield states that she carried more passengers than the Greyhound did last year, and this was done on but little over half the expense, so that the profits of the season were considerably greater.

IRISH NATIONAL LEAGUE.

A Firm Stand Taken in Chicago.

No More Aid Unless Irishmen Get Together.

A Resolution to Indorse McCarthy Voted Down—The Interesting Deliberations in Detail.

Chicago, Oct. 3.—John Fitzgerald is no longer president of the Irish National League of America, M. V. Gannon, of Omaha, being elected to succeed him.

Secretary John P. Sutton was re-elected by acclamation and William Lyman, of New York, unanimously chosen treasurer.

Patrick Boyle, of Toronto, Canada, was chosen first vice president; M. D. Gallagher, of New York, second vice president, and E. J. O'Connor, of Augusta, Ga., third.

President Gannon's cabinet, or national council, was announced by him as follows: Daniel Corkery, Illinois; Capt. Georgh Sweeney, Ohio; John J. Donovan, Massachusetts; James M nagm, Wisconsin; H. J. Carroll, Rhode Island; Nicholas Ford, Missouri; A. P. McGuirk, Iowa. Eloquent addresses by T. B Minehan, of Omaha, and Mr. Tynan, of New York, were heard, and the convention adjourned sine die.

Secretary Sutton's report created a great sensation when presented to the delegates at the Irish National league convention.

"Your present executive," the report says, "accepted office at the convention held in Chicago in August, 1888. President John Fitzgerald was declared elected by three-fourths of the assembled delegates; the treasurer and secretary were re-elected without opposition.

"There was at that convention an element of discord, but, overawed by the preponderance of men who loved the cause too dearly to prostitute it at the shrine of factionism, they were powerless to mar the harmony of that great gathering of of Irishmen, which could not listen to men whose whole stock in trade was making charges and failing to prove them.

"President Fitzgerald returned to his western home in the full belief that a great organized body of Irish-Americans stood behind him, united like brothers in the holy cause of Irish liberty. He found his mistake. Like Garrett, the great earl of Desmond, and the still nobler Lord Edward, he found Irish traitors ready to stab him in the back.

"The cowardly conspirators who, failing in their vile purpose of creating dissension and disunion, had sneaked out like curs from the last Chicago convention, renewed, under cover of secret plots, their attempts to demoralize and disrupt the league."

Beginning with a letter from Mr. Parnell a few weeks after the Chicago convention, entreating President Fitzgerald to raise funds to help the unfortunate evicted tenants of Ireland, as the treasury of the Irish league was almost exhausted, the report outlines a startling narrative, with letters and telegrams in chronological order, to show that time and again a convention of the American league was prevented from across the water, while the officers of the league, for not holding one, were abused by factionists in this country, encouraged by Mr. Parnell and his colleagues, who are exhibited as sedulously ignoring the league officials whenever opportunity is offered.

"President Fitzgerald is stated to have headed the anti-eviction fund with a personal subscription of $3,000, and to have raised a total of nearly $100.00 in his first effort for the struggling farmers in Ireland, 'while a reverend editor in Buffalo was sneering at his want of education.'

"Parnell's neglect, a short time later, in March, 1887, only six months after the Chicago convention, to acknowledge the receipts of the anti-coercion resolutions, which were adopted by the Nebraska legislature within four hours after a request for such action was received from him by President Fitzgerald, is alluded to in contrast with Gladstone's prompt reply.

One peculiar disclosure is made by Secretary Sutton. It is in effect that during October, 1888, Parnell, finding himself bound by agreement, to turn over to his lawyers the full amount of the Times defense fund, then unexpectedly large, begged of President Fitzgerald, through James J. O'Kelly, that while pushing the collections, the fund be retained in America. 'The wishes of Mr. Parnell were complied with,' says the report, 'and very soon there was a howl from the handful of factionists in Chicago, New York and Philadelphia, who acted energetically in behalf of the London Times by sowing the seeds of mistrust in their statements that Rev. Dr. O'Reilly was retaining the money for improper purposes.' Information from Timothy Harrington that the money be retained at Parnell's request, the report says, 'Did not prevent them continuing to raise the same charge, as their object was to burst up every Irish organization in America. Indeed, they might fairly have been called the anarchists of the Irish movement, for they were determined to ruin what they could not rule.'

The Platform.

The platform was then read as follows:

1. The Irish National League of America in convention assembled at Chicago on October 2, 1891, testifies its devotion to the flag of the union and the unquenchable love of its members for the laws and institutions of our glorious country, recognizing as we gladly and proudly do, that our primary allegiance is due to that flag and to those institutions. We affirm that our ever-mastering desire is to see extended to our mother land the benefits accruing from equal laws such as have blessed America and made her the hope of suffering mankind, and the model for nations struggling for free institutions.

2. We regret the conditions now existing in Ireland, and attribute their possibility to an unfortunate tendency toward hero worship and one-man domination, which we hope to see obliterated from the public life of Ireland.

3. We have no desire, nor do we deem it wise, necessary or patriotic, to pass judgment upon the question now so unhappily separating our brethren in our old land. We have heretofore tendered our good offices in the adjustment of those differences and that render has been wholly disregarded by the controlling elements, but we must and must speak out the opinions and wishes of the people whom we represent and say that it is the duty of the Irish and all other oppressed people to seek freedom by peaceable methods, and only when such methods have been fully tried and found wanting are nations and people justified in resorting to force; but we strongly and emphatically assert that it is equally a duty to peacefully assert that it is equally a duty to prepare for every emergency, and stand ready to aid our kindred in a manly way, recognized and commended by usage and civilization in obtaining freemen's price, bigger by a land consecrated to freedom by the horrible sacrifices of centuries.

4. We call upon those who are responsible for the locking up of over $200,000, mainly contributed by the people of this country for the support of the evicted tenants on the plan of campaign, to release the same and distribute as originally intended by the subscribers, and we hereby declare that until this request is complied with we are resolved not to contribute another dollar to aid those who have withheld this money from its legitimate beneficiaries.

5. We hereby resolve to maintain our organization for the purpose of being in readiness for the performance of such duties as the exigencies of the future shall show to be fit and proper, and we humbly invoke the guidance of Almighty God for our brothers and ourselves, to the end that with His blessing our united efforts may result in securing for the people the land in which He has placed them, and a government whose laws, and a government whose policy shall be so clean and pure, and opportunities shall be so broad, honorable and free, as to make it a model for the free nations of the earth.

We extend our heartfelt sympathy to President Hon. John Fitzgerald of [illegible], and our first vice president, Hon. Patrick Martin of Baltimore, in their illness, and earnestly hope for their speedy recovery. No cause has ever had braver, truer and more self-sacrificing sons than Fitzgerald and Martin, and the Irishmen will, we trust, ever remember with gratitude their great service to their country.

7. We call the attention of America to the cause of American citizens suffering penal horrors in British dungeons, because of evidence plainly manufactured, and the fact that they dared to express themselves in favor of a free Ireland, and we ask our representatives in congress to press the matter upon the attention of the state department.

We tender our sincere thanks to all the executive officers of our organization, particularly President John Fitzgerald, Treasurer Rev. Chas. O'Reilly and Secretary John P. Sutton, for their able, untiring and brilliant services to our movement.

The Minority.

Before a motion for the adoption of the platform could be put, Judge Donnelly of Wisconsin, arose and announced that there was a minority report from the platform committee. He proceeded to argue that the minority did not disagree with anything in the majority report, except that it did not go far enough.

"In the language of our distinguished fellow citizen, ex-President Cleveland (an uproarious outburst of applause and laughter instantly interrupted Judge Donnelly.) With some embarrassment he proceeded: "It is a condition, not a theory, that confronts us. In Ireland——"

McGuirk of Iowa demanded on a point of order that Judge Donnelly first read the minority report, but the convention allowed the Wisconsin delegate to continue to explain, and the report was read as follows:

"We, the minority of your committee while heartily approving the majority report, so far as it goes, beg leave to submit the following amendment and move its adoption:

"Resolved, That as American citizens and firm believers in the principles on which our government is founded, we can recognize the claim of no person to the chairmanship of the Irish parliamentary party, and we instruct the officers of this league to recognize the chairman chosen by the majority of the Irish parliamentary party."

The minority report was tabled, 418 to 34, and the majority report adopted.

THE TOWN OF CHANDLER.

Cowboys Who Got Town Lots Are Faring Handsomely.

Chandler, O. T., Oct. 3.—The town site of Chandler is now a town of about 1,000 people and there are [illegible] 500 floaters, made up of adventurers of every description. Ever thing is [illegible] Chandler will be in a brief time a progressive town. Values have not ceased, rather increased. A lot that [illegible] for $100 the minute after a cowboy reached it is worth $200 to-day.

A messenger is needed here who says that everybody is busily engaged in building a shelter. Everything that is consumable in the way of food brings a good price and information from the states is eagerly sought after. Guthrie presents a busy appearance.

Hundreds of people are here waiting to "fall in line" and file in the farm they have selected. Numbers are issued and a claimant has to wait his turn in line. Miss Daisy, the lady injured when the town was opened, is not dead. A carriage and a physician have been sent out to bring her to this city. The last report was that in all probability Miss Daisy would recover.

CHOLERA IN CHINA.

Fearful Reports Come From the Orient.

People, Panic Stricken, Leave Their Dead to be Buried by Charity.

San Francisco, Oct. 3.—Fearful reports of the cholera epidemic have been received from China. For the past month the death rate at Foo Chow has been very high, the cholera at that point being more prevalent than ever known before.

The natives are reported as suffering terribly, because they use the dirtiest water, washing and cooking in it. In one instance first one member of a family of seven persons was attacked by the disease in the most severe form, dying in an hour.

His friends prepared to bury him sending one of their number to get grave clothes, but this man, too, fell sick himself and died by the roadside.

He was carried to his home, where the unfortunate family were already bewailing the death of the first man.

The second victim was placed by the side of his deceased relative and preparations were made for the burial of the two, when, without warning, a third member of the family fell down with the dreaded malady.

The four remaining relatives then fled horror stricken and the three bodies had to be buried by a charitable institution.

WARS AND STORMS.

Fierce Fighting in the Island of Tamna.

San Francisco, Oct. 3.—Advices received by steamship Monowaiisay that the island of Tamna has been visited by a hurricane and devastated by civil war.

Fierce fighting is now going on and two villages have been wiped out of existence.

In the midst of fighting came the fearful hurricane. The German ship J. W. Gildemeister was wrecked in Dianlorica bay. The cutter Hilda was driven ashore and a canoe with 19 natives lost.

TURN ON THE LIGHT.

All Classes of Philadelphians Aroused.

The Boyer and McCamant Administration Exposure Has Created a Great Sensation.

Philadelphia, Oct. 3.—The astonishing admissions of Auditor General McCamant and State Treasurer Boyer, made before the Legislative investigating committee were the pricipal topics of conversation among all professional and business men of the city. McCamant's statement that all his predecessors in office have acted in precisely the same manner as he has acted is so astonishing, it is asserted, that nothing but a thorough investigation into all past administration will satisfy the people.

Among the "professional" republican politicians the McCamant admissions have created quite a panic. While it is evident they fully realize the perilous position of their party they endeavor by one means or another to veil their anxiety and consternation. Some boldly aver that the officials under fire are honest; some claim that the whole thing is a political job instigated by Secretary of the Commonwealth Harrity and carried out by Geovernor Pattison by a stretch of his authority. The more sagacious, however, who deem that it is best to make the most of the facts as they exist, say emphatically that the republican party wanted this investigation long ago.

The men who constitute the best element of the party are unanimous in approving the course of Governor Pattison, and declare that his motive is thoroughly honest and that his action is fully warranted by the powers given him under the constitution. They also admit that the system now in vogue is rotten to the core and must be immediately destroyed if the party is to maintain its prestige and power.

THE FRENCH HARVEST.

Paris, Oct. 3.—The official estimate of the French harvest for 1891 is 5,819,507 hectares cultivated (a hectare is two acres, one rood and thirty-five perches). This cultivation produced 81,839,070 hectolitres (2 3-4 bushels to the hectolitre). Of mixed grain 518,378 hectares were planted producing 3,638,962 hectolitres. Of rye 1,494,714 hectares were planted, producing 21,152,317 hectolitres.

HE IS WELL PLEASED.

Sir Henry Wood on the World's Fair.

England Will be Well Represented and He Expects the Country to Profit by It.

Chicago, Oct. 3.—Sir Henry Wood, the British royal commissioner for the World's Columbian exposition at Chicago, has completed the work of investigation, and will sail for England October 7. Sir Henry, in conversation said to-day:

"I consider the prospects for success of the exposition very favorable. It will be a great exposition and our British manufacturers will make a great mistake if they fail to send here liberal and extensive exhibits. I think British art would be the most profitable exhibit that could be made here.

"People here seem to know much more about the French and German schools of art than about the British. The people are becoming very rich. They have plenty of money and they are willing and ready to spend it to decorate their magnificent and costly houses, which are being erected on every hand.

Fine art would be the best class of British production to come to this fair.

"This exposition will touch the whole of the great west as well as Chicago, and there is a wonderful market here for British goods. In this respect it is better for England to have the fair in Chicago than in New York. The situation of the fair is very good and very well adapted to the purpose. There will be many fine features.

The buildings are being erected on a magnificent scale. They are large and costly, and by far surpass anything at the Paris exposition of 1889. I am assured that there is ample financial backing to the enterprise, and from the spirit shown by the Chicago people I have no doubt they will find ample funds.

"They have a good organization, a little too large, perhaps, but energetic and enthusiastic. They have a good deal to learn about running an exposition, and I do not know how far they will succeed in learning the details by next year.

"Our coming as the first of the foreign commissioners gave us a decided advantage. I think Great Britain ought and will occupy at the Columbian exposition the same leading place she has held at all other expositions.

"The site selected by us and granted by the directory for the British headquarters is one of the very nicest in the whole grounds. It is the choicest spot. I am in hopes that our appropriation for the government exhibit will be increased so that we will be able to make a worthy exhibit.

"The space in the buildings all wed for British manufacturers is ample with a margin for extension. We were given all we asked for, and a liberal concession was made in our favor as to classification in order to permit all British products to be exhibited together. I think we will have a good colonial exhibit as well. It has been arranged to have all British Colonial exhibits along side the British exhibit. I do not know yet what Australia or Canada will do.

"From all I can learn the customs and transportation arrangements will be all that I could wish. Goods for exhibition will be admitted under such favorable conditions as regards the customs that no one need fear on that account to prepare for the exhibit. The rates for transportation will be exceedingly low and all goods sent back will be carried free on the homeward trip.

"The McKinley bill will not be allowed to militate against the success of the fair. There, too, there are many lines of British manufacture which are not affected unfavorably by the McKinley bill. The McKinley bill may frighten foreign exhibitors, but it should not.

"I think the exposition will be a splendid opportunity for our British manufacturers to open a market here in the west for their products. It is like breaking new ground. No exhibitor need have any fear that he will not sell all his goods at a handsome price, at the close of the fair, no matter how large the exhibits may be. These sales ought to lay the foundation of a great business with the west for England. The people here are rich and demand luxury, and are anxious to spend money to get it.

"I would advise extensive exhibits by British producers of artistic industries, pictures, furniture, decorations, glass, pottery and such. English nursery men should take advantage of the great horticultural show that will be here. I think British live stock raisers would do well to send large exhibits to the live stock departments. All would be sold and a new market would be developed.

"I am informed by the United States attorney-general that the alien contract labor law will not affect contracts made in England, and exhibitors need have no fear that artisans, clerks or other help engaged in England for service at the fair can break their contracts on coming here. The courts here would uphold the arrangements. British machinery makers cannot compete with Americans in the home market, but all the South Americans will be here and British exhibitors could find a market there.

"I do not think the cost of living during the fair will be very high. Several of the leading hotel-keepers have informed me that they will not increase their regular charges. To bring exhibits to the fair will be costly, but I think the benefits to be gained will amply repay all outlay. The crowding in ocean travel will be the most serious drawback to the European visitors to the fair. Chicago is accustomed to handling immense crowds of people, and be ond a little crowding there will be no inconvenience here. In conclusion I would say that the fair looks like a success, and great Britain should be liberally represented."

OHIO SUPREME COURT.

The Standard Oil Company's Answer—Gas Suit.

Columbus, O., Oct. 2.—The Standard Oil company has filed its brief in the supreme court in quo warranto proceedings instituted by Attorney General Watson to oust that corporation from the state.

The company denies that it has violated the provisions of its charter by merging its property and franchises into other corporations, and sets up the claim that the so-called other companies, forming parts of its system, are incorporated agencies.

The brief is a very voluminous document, covering more than a hundred pages of common pamphlet size. The case will come up for argument next Thursday.

The Northwestern Ohio Natural Gas company is the plaintiff in error against John Zarbaugh and others in a Hancock county case, filed in the supreme court to-day. The gas company claim the right by the assignment of a lease to the Findlay Oil company sent, and had the gas company ousted in the lower courts.

Yesterday was the first motion day of the supreme court since the commencement of the fall term, and consequently a large number of motions were heard. A number of of attorneys from different parts of the state were present.

Among the cases considered was the celebrated "Route No. 23," which was argued upon a motion by Isaac J. Miller, to take the case out of its order. The case tests the constitutionality of the act passed by the last legislature, giving Mr. Miller the right to construct a street railroad upon route 23 in Cincinnati.

The motion was argued for Miller by ex-Governor Foraker and Judge Yaple, and upon the other side by Attorney Cader. This has been a most bitterly contested case. The fight has virtually been between the Consolidated Street Railway company of Cincinnati, and Mr. Miller. The matter was first tested in the Cincinnati courts, and Mr. Miller being defeated came to the legislature for relief. After a long and bitter fight they secured the passage of an act. Those opposing him immediately commenced proceedings in the Cincinnati courts, and it having reached the supreme court an early hearing is now sought.

REMOVED THE WITNESS.

His Dead Body Found Floating in a Creek.

Birmingham, Ala., Oct. 3.—Monday night masked white men visited the house of John Brown, a well-to-do negro farmer near Childersburg, Ala., and carried him off on a pretext that they were officers and had a warrant for his arrest.

To-day Brown's body was found in a creek with a rope around his neck. He had been hanged to a bridge, and when dead the body had been cut down and thrown in the water.

No cause for the deed is known excepting that Brown was a witness against two white men charged with burning Wm. Boaz's barn.

MISSIONS IN PARIS.

Interesting Talk at the Ashland Avenue Baptist Church by Miss Gibson.

The Ashland Avenue Baptist church was filled last evening with an interested audience to hear Miss Marian Isabelle Gibson, of Paris. Miss Gibson is an attractive appearing young lady and a delightful speaker. She is the daughter of Rev. Wm. Gibson, an American Methodist minister, who is conducting evangelistic mission work among the poor of Paris and several other French cities. Rev. Gibson and his daughter are in this country endeavoring to raise funds to further aid their work.

The progress of this work was the theme of Miss Gibson's talk, as well as the condition of the lower classes in France and the great capital city. The missions in which she assists her father are conducted on genuine American Methodist principles, and seem well suited to the French people, for their efforts are progressing very successfully. The mission conducted by Rev. Gibson is under the direction of the British conference, and consists of 14 stations, eight in and around Paris, two at Rouen, two at Havre, one at Elbeuf, and one at St. Servan.

Besides the work, Miss Gibson talked very interestingly on Paris and France, and she made many friends.

A pleasing musical and literary program was also rendered during the evening.

Miss Gibson is here under the auspices of the Ys, and at their meeting yesterday afternoon she addressed them on the temperance work in Paris, and told of her efforts to organize a Young Woman's Christian Temperance union.

THE VOICE OF THE WEST.

Republicans Will Demand Harrison's Renomination.

Democrats Want Cleveland and Crisp Will be Their Candidate for Speaker

Washington, Oct. 3.—Representative Buchanan, of New Jersey, who has been making a tour of the Pacific slope, going as far as Alaska, is in Washington. This morning he said that he had talked politics to a considerable extent with people he met on his way. He says that the administration is constantly gaining in strength on the Pacific coast.

"The president," he said, "has had his trouble there, as elsewhere, growing out of appointments, but the old bruises have passed away, and things are in good condition. Crops in that section are good and the people are prosperous. I did not talk directly on the question of the preferences for party nominees, but was impressed by the fact that they were all satisfied with the administration. The people in that section are all proud of Mr. Blaine, but I fancy his own inclinations will settle the talk of his candidacy.

"My own idea is that Mr. Harrison will be renominated. I think the two old tickets will be up again. The democrats practically put Cleveland in the field again the day after Mr. Harrison defeated him, and I think he will get the nomination. I think Mr. Harrison's renomination will be the logical result of the very good administration he has given."

Speaking of the speakership of the next house, Mr. Buchanan said: "The democrats ought to elect Mills; he has earned it; but they will make Crisp the next speaker. I say this as the result of inquiries I have made of new members from the northwest. I found that Crisp was strong in the northwest, many members declaring their preference for him. I asked some with whom I talked if they did not think Mr. Mills was entitled to the speakership on account of long and active service, but they said they did not think him a safe man for the place."

WILL WAIT TILL SNOW FLIES

No Big Appointments Until After Election.

President Harrison Does Not Care to Disturb the Political Equilibrium Just at This Stage.

Washington, Oct. 3.—President Harrison told a prominent politician to-day that he had decided to hold off all the big appointments until after the fall elections.

There are nine appeals court judgeships, a judicial appointment on the court of claims and two interstate commerce commissioners to be appointed and there are a multitude of applicants for each position from almost every state in the union.

If the appointments were made now there would be 99 disappointments in each case.

Mr. Harrison, acting on the advice of the campaign managers in Ohio, Pennsylvania, New York and Iowa, where campaigns are in progress, has decided to keep the applicants and their friends on tender hooks until after election day.

This is considered a very shrewd move as it is calculate to secure the active co-operation of the place seekers in the pending campaign.

A SPLENDID ARGUMENT.

Capt. Bell at Air Line Junction Last Night.

Hon. John W. Canary Made a Brief Speech.

How This Country is Cursed by Protection—A Rich Nation, But Who Has the Wealth!—The Tariff a Tax.

The democrats of Air Line Junction turned out last night to the first political meeting of the year held in that section of the city.

Capt. Geo. W. Bell and Hon. John W. Canary had been advertised to speak, and the local committeeman had full charge of the meeting. A handsome stand was constructed from which the speaking took place.

A brass band was there early in the evening, but it was 8:30 before the speaking began. The meeting was called to order, and John W. Canary was introduced and made a splendid speech.

"It has been stated in the papers," said he, "that I would sing here to-night, but I have no time to sing. I came over here merely to meet the people. I did not come to make a speech and will not attempt it, because you have a gentleman with you who can make an address that you will all be pleased to listen to.

"This is not a campaign of passion or of prejudice, but of measures. It is not as to which men shall be elected, but as to which principles will prevail. The nomination of McKinley by the republicans, in the face of the legislation of the last congress, made the issue of this campaign, and there can be no evasion. The question before us is, shall we be taxed for the benefit of certain classes in this country, for the benefit of men who have amassed colossal fortunes in a few years by reason of this policy, or shall taxes be turned so as mostly to meet the wants of an economically administered government. That is the point at issue."

Capt. Bell was then introduced and delivered one of his convincing addresses, replete with splendid argument and bristling with rugged truths. His arraignment of the policy of protection, and his citation of facts showing that protection did not protect the wage earner, but the millionaire manufacturer only, was eloquent and telling. The speech ought to have been listened to by 5,000 people.

TOLEDO BOYS' HOME.

A Ride on the Robison System—Something of the Institution.

Mr. James Robison, of the Toledo Electric Street Car company, manifested his kindness last evening by treating the boys of the Toledo Boys' home to a delightful street car ride. About 20 of the youngsters belonging to the home think Mr. Robison a good sort of a friend to possess, and declare their appreciation of the favor bestowed upon them.

The car left the home at 6 p. m., returning at 10 o'clock, after which refreshments were served.

The Toledo Boys' home was organized about two years ago under a circle of the King's Daughters, and has since become a corporation. Most of the ladies belonging, however, are King's Daughters, and the home is run "In His Name."

An effort is being made to procure a more commodious home for the boys this winter, the present quarters having become crowded, and new applications for a home being made each day.

The boys are provided with a home regardless of religion or denomination, each paying $1.50 per week for board, lodging, etc. Liberal donations have been made in the way of clothes, shoes, etc., for which the boys pay a small sum. Donations and assistance will be duly appreciated at any time. The boys welcome their former matron, Mrs. Sites, back again.

The services of a house-keeper will be required this winter. The boys are taught four nights during the week, each entertainment being given each Friday evening, when they are allowed to invite in their friends, who help them to have a pleasant time.

No boy having a parent or parents in the city where they would be likely to contribute to the support of the family are at the home. The boys live up to a code of morals and manners, and the perseverance and hard work of the ladies bid fair to make a great success of the undertaking. Gratifying is expressed by the ladies to Mr. Robison and others for kindnesses received.

LABOR NOTES.

The Glasscutters held a good meeting last evening and discussed several matters of importance.

At the meeting of the Lathers' Union the report of the delegates to the building trades council was not approved. The council proposes that no union man shall work on a building where any non-union men are employed of any trade whatever. This the lathers object to. One application for reinstatement of an expelled member was favorably acted upon.

The plasterers' union was to have held a meeting last evening, but as a quorum of members failed to put in an appearance no business was transacted.

At the meeting of the Machine Woodworkers Union last night three new members were initiated and the union voted favorably on the proposed amendment to the national constitution. Willis Urie was elected secretary and Charles Jackson vice-president, in place of Wallace Asphinwall and William Green, resigned.

The Journeymen Tailors at their meeting last evening discussed the refusal of the merchants to adopt their new schedule of prices and the sentiment seemed to be in favor of a strike next week if their demands are not accepted.

A CLASS IN VOCAL MUSIC.

Prof. Amos Whiting will conduct a class in vocal music Wednesday evenings during the fall and winter under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. Members of the association will be admitted to the class on the payment of $1 for the course of 20 lessons. A limited number of ladies will be admitted on payment of $2 for the course. Applications must be made by mail the "Gen'l Secretary Y. M. C. A., Toledo." The class opens Oct. 14.

THE RETURN

Of a Young Society Lady Results in the Announcement of Her Engagement.

Last evening Misses Kate Gloyd and Perla Bowman entertained quite a party of young people at the residence of J. M. Gloyd, 110 Bancroft street, on the occasion of the return of Miss Elizabeth Paddock from Denver, where she was spending the summer. The three young ladies above mentioned received. Among those present were: Frank Thomas, Miss Lamoille Tillinghast, Miss Nannie Ormond, Geo. H. Stephens, Miss Emma Paddock, Miss Maud Caniff, Jay Tillinghast, Wm. McPherson, Mr. Wells, Geo. Irons, Ed Kirk, Roy Conklin, Blacque Wilson, Miss Martha Tracy, Miss Clara Dennison, Miss Mabel Wilson, Miss Jessie Bond, Geo. Waite, Warren Herron and Geo. W. Stevens. Those present drew split quotations for partners at cards, and numerous other amusements, including dancing, were arranged. Before refreshments were served the young gentlemen were placed in a room by themselves. From over the top of the door extended a bunch of strings, one for each. The gentlemen took their strings in hand and the door was opened, disclosing the ladies in the next room holding the other end of the strings. Then came the untangling process until the couples holding the same string came together and repaired to the dining room.

The event of the evening was the announcement of the engagment of Geo. H. Stevens and Miss Elizabeth Paddock. The young ladies and gentlemen named in the above article are all members of the famous coterie known as the Picnic Horn.

IN TRADING CIRCLES

Both at Our Home and Abroad.

Wheat Quotations for the Day—Price Current for Produce and Other Articles.

The receipts of wheat to-day at seven principal western points are 362,446 bu in excess of the corresponding Saturday in 1890.

The receipts of grain this week at eight principal western points, see table, are: Wheat, 7,043,000 bu; corn, 1,321,500 bu; oats, 2,126,000 bu. In the corresponding week in 1890: Wheat, 3,289,000 bu; corn, 2,380,000 bu; oats, 2,460,000 bu—showing a gain of 3,754,000 bu wheat, a loss in corn of 1,063,000 bu and a loss in oats of 346,000 bu.

The export clearances yesterday from four Atlantic ports were very light, wheat 78,886 bu with flour to an aggregate of 260 bu.

The shipments for the week from the same ports were: Wheat, 1,403,000 bu; corn, 2,261,000 bu; oats, 140,000 bu. Previous week wheat, 2,774,000 bu; corn, 617,000 bu; oats, 158,000 bu.

English markets as reported herein are 3½d per 100 pounds higher and firm.

French Crop.

The official reports of the French crop give a deficiency as compared with 1890, of at out 100,000,000 bu, but the estimate is greatly above those of private authorities of great repute, as was also the official report of 1890 equally in excess of same authorities.

Flour Market East and West.

In the flour market, as in a great variety of other markets, the star of empire seems to point westward. The flour market at the great western flour centers seem to have advanced and millers have sold ahead of their production, while New York quotes dull and slow markets. It is easy to see that from the western miller direct to the consumer is more and more the method, and New York will have to bu tle or lose the trade.

It has proved to be another dull Saturday, and the markets are lower. It is quite credent that much of the advance yesterday was inspired by purchases to fill previous sales, and that the adverse reported from Dakota had only secondary influence.

Receipts to-day are light and from winter wheat farmers they are not likely to be increased at present prices.

Latest reports o. English markets are favorable to sellers.

New York closed at 12 o'clock. October wheat was ⅛c and December ⅝c lower. Corn unchanged. After New York adjourned Chicago declined and closed 1¼c lower on December wheat and ½c lower on October corn; October oats, ½c lower.

In Toledo the trading in wheat futures to-day has been quite light again and lower prices have been accepted. On the call considerable December wheat was sold at an advance over yesterday's closing, but after the call the market became weaker and closed ½c lower.

On the call December wheat sold at $1 02⅝@1 02⅞, and closed at $1 02⅝c. After the call October sold at 99½c and closed at 99c, a loss of ¼c; December sold at $1 02⅝ and closed at $1 01⅝, a loss of ¾c; January sold at $1 03⅛@1 03½; May at $1 08, a loss of ⅝c.

Cash wheat was in lighter request. Opening sales ½c up, but the close was ½c lower: No 2 out at 99½@99c; No 3 soft at 95½@96. Other grades not wanted today.

Nothing doing in corn. On the call May sold at 43⅞c; No 2, 56. Oats, no sales. No 2, 30c. Rye was dearer; No 2 at 88c; No 3, 84c; rejected at 75c. Clover seed was dearer, closing with advance lost, and much more active. On the call December sold freely at $4 55. After the call prime for cash at $4 50; October, $4 50; closing $4 45; December at $4 55, closing at $4 52½ and $4 55. No 2 at $4 15 to $4 25.

"Weak and weary," describes the condition of many people debilitated with the warm weather, by disease or overwork. Hood's Sarsaparilla is just the medicine needed to build up and strengthen the body, purify and quicken the sluggish blood, and restore the lost appetite.

TWO SUDDEN DEATHS

From Heart Disease, Almost in the Same Locality.

John Knaggs, an old and respected farmer, 67 years old, residing on his farm near Waterville, came to the city yesterday to dispose of a quantity of grapes. While around the market on Superior street yesterday afternoon he suddenly dropped dead.

Heart disease was the cause of his death.

Mr. Knaggs was an old settler in Lucas county, and a brother-in-law of Dr. W. W. Jones. Friends removed the body to his home.

A second case of death from heart disease occurred on Superior street this morning. The lifeless body of Chas. Kinney was found in bed at Joe Chaffot's place, 40 Superior street, just opposite the place where Mr. Knaggs dropped dead yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Kinney was about 33 years old, and a member of the Plasterers' union. He had been suffering the past few months from rheumatism, was unable to work at his trade, and had been tending bar in the saloon next to the police headquarters.

The coroner was called, but it was unnecessary to hold an inquest, as it was plain that death resulted from heart failure. Not much is known about the man, except that he has a brother in the city.

The body was turned over to an undertaker to be prepared for burial.

A e free from all crude and irritating matter. Concentrated medicine only. Carter's Little Liver Pills. Very small very easy to take; no pain; no griping no purging. Try them.

MR. THEO. ECKER,

Prominent Teacher and Pianist, Toledo.

GENTLEMEN: The struggle for the last 10 years between the makers of the six or seven strictly first-class pianos, each seeking to outdo the others in making fine uprights, has been, and still is very interesting to musicians. Each year they have grown better until now some of them are brought to such a state of perfection that it seems almost impossible to improve them more. Boardman & Gray have kept right at the front in this struggle, and we now find these beautiful pianos as near the artist's ideal as any upright piano in the market. Tone pure and action light and pleasing. I have used a Boardman & Gray for about five years, and feel sure that no person who knows the merit of these magnificent pianos will hesitate a minute to recommend them.

Yours truly,
THEO. ECKER.

Toledo, Nov. 2, '89.

You will seldom need a doctor if you have Simmons Liver Regulator handy.

I. N. REED PASSED AWAY

This Morning After a Lingering Illness.

A Sketch of the Life of One of Toledo's Most Prominent Citizens and Business Men.

The many friends of Isaac N. Reed were pained to hear of his death, which occurred this morning, after a long illness. Mr. Reed had been failing for some time. Not long since he took a trip to Europe, thinking that the sea voyage and change of climate might relieve him, but without avail.

In his death Toledo loses one of its best citizens. Isaac N. Reed was born within a short distance of Toledo, in Springfield township, Lucas county, in 1846, and was consequently in his 45th year. His father, Hiram J. Reed, settled in the Maumee valley in 1846. Isaac's mother died when he was but 9 years of age, and he was bound out to a poor farmer, and followed the plow for some time. He suffered severe want in consequence of the poverty of the family with which he lived, and he decided to leave them and strike out for himself, gaining the proper consent. He hardly knew what to turn to but finally obtained employment as section hand on the Michigan Southern and Northern Indiana railroad.

His education had been sorely neglected, and he could neither read or write. He worked and went to school when possible, and his progress with books was rapid.

At the age of 18 he entered Baldwin University at Berea, O. Two years afterward, a young man of 20, he was teaching in the school where a few years previous he was learning the first rudiments of writing and reading. His health demanded work in the open air so he went with the Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad as foreman, and afterwards with the Union Pacific during the period of its construction.

He came to Toledo and entered the drug trade about 15 years ago, and was most successful. In 1881 he was elected president of the Ohio State Pharmaceutical association. He fearlessly assailed the then existing laws regulating the practice of pharmacy in the state, and was mainly instrumental in securing the enactment, in 1884, of the Reed pharmacy act, which as a law for controlling and directing the practice of pharmacy has no superior in the country. He also did many other things in the interest of druggists and was a member of the American Pharmaceutical association, and was one of the five gentlemen who started the National Wholesale Drug association, which now has 400 members.

Mr. Reed was an active Mason, having reached the thirty-second degree. He was united in marriage in 1868 to Miss Agnes Kelly, at Watertown, Wis. His wife and several children survive him.

Isaac N. Reed was a man who commanded respect and admiration. His enviable position in life was attained solely by his own efforts, and beset as he was by the unfavorable conditions and hardships of his early youth, his record as he developed into manhood and advanced round by round, is one of which his family and friends can well be proud.

The funeral will take place on Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

THE NEW CENTURY CLUB.

Resumption of the Meetings for the Winter Season.

With the cool and long evenings of October the social and study clubs of the city begin the fall and winter meetings. In passing it may be remarked that no city of its size has more clubs or better ones than Toledo.

Among those holding opening meetings this week was the New Century club, which met last eveing, with Mrs. Sarah E. Bissell, 1861 Summit street, L. K. Parks presiding, C. E. Bennett secretary.

After reading of the minutes of the previous meeting and the transaction of some routine business, the essayist of the evening, Miss Mary Law, read a paper on "Reciprocity," and an animated discussion followed. The "reciprocity limited," which is receiving attention in political circles was not the subject outlined in the paper, but the relation of man to man; man's relation to those of his own family, to his business associates, to the community in which he is a unit, and to the country of which he is a citizen. Were the views of the essayist adopted, the reciprocity advocated would establish the golden rule as the governing motive of individual life, society and government.

The discussion was participated in by Mesdames Bissell, Segur, Collins and Frey, Messrs. Parks, Cravens, Bateman and Bennett.

The next meeting of te club, on Friday evening, October 16, will be with Mrs. Rosa L. Segur, Broadway, and Mr. C. S. Ashley will read the paper. Subject of essay, "Is Liberty Declining?"

PERSONAL MENTION.

Miss Agnes Earley, of Illinois street, well-known in social circles of the city, was married two months or more ago to Mr. Paine, a traveling salesman of a Toledo house. The secret was well kept until yesterday, when it leaked out, and it is not too late for friends to offer congratulations and wish the young couple a long and happy life together.

Mrs. Bea F. Taylor, widow of the Chicago poet, is visiting relatives in this city. Mr. Taylor is very generally remembered by his exquisite poems, but in Toledo many recall the occasion of his lecturing here, when he was received into membership in Forsyth Post, G. A. R. His death occurred two years ago.

Miss Florence Householder, who has been spending the summer with her mother and sisters at Auburndale, returned to her home at Middle Point, Ga., this week. Miss Householder went to Middle Point two years ago, and has built up a flourishing dressmaking and millinery business in that city. Her many friends will be glad to learn of her success.

Judge Millard yesterday granted a new trial in the case of Toledo against the Clover Leaf Railroad company for the opening up of Wabash street. The jury allowed him $1,000 instead $692. The defendant applied for a new trial on the ground that the bailiff turned over to the jury the attorney's requests to charge instead of the courts charge.

The plans of St. Patrick's new church will arrive this afternoon and will be on exhibition in the hall of St. Patrick's Institute to-morrow (Sunday) at 2 p. m. They are said to be very grand.

Young men planning to enter the night school of any of the business colleges, should call at the Y. M. C. A. and inquire about the reduced rates given to members of that organization. Remember that membership admits free to te e twelve high class entertainments of the Star and a Association courses and gives a dozen other valuable privileges.

THE STAR COURSE.

The sale of tickets for the Star Course opens next Wednesday at 8 o'clock at J. J. Freeman's, and everything indicates a rush. The committee have completed the list of attractions and dates, and are confident that the course will meet the highest expectations of their patrons. Season ticket, $1; season ticket with privilege of reserving seat previous to each entertainment, $2. A limited number of season tickets with privilege of reserving seats for the season will be sold at $3 for the convenience of those who do not wish the trouble of reserving before each entertainment. Alternate rows only will be sold in this way, so that for any seat reserved for the season there will be one equally as good left for the holders of $2 tickets. Patrons wishing the $3 tickets can buy them at Freeman's next week, and can choose their seats on Monday, September 21. The opening entertainment will be November 3 by Whitney Mockeridge, America's leading tenor, and his own company of star artists, incuding a soprano, basso, violinist and pianist. Single admissions, 50 cents; admission and reserved seat, $1.

SOME SPICY CURRENT TOPICS

Of Local and Neighborhood Interest.

Notes and Comments on Incidents Occurring Daily—Prepared for Readers Who are Hustled for Time.

NON-PARTISAN W. C. T. U.

The non-partisan W. C. T. U. met yesterday afternoon, with Mrs. W. J. Farrar, on Madison street, and planned their work for the coming winter. The next meeting will be held with Mrs. Thatcher, on Adams street.

TO BUY NORTHWESTERN MIXERS

Arrangements are being completed whereby the city will come into possession of mixers belonging to the Northwestern Gas company in cases where consumers desire to exchange Northwestern for city gas. The mixers will be purchased at their market value.

MR. WALCOTT'S STATEMENT.

Regarding the inspection of watches on the Lake Shore, Wm. Walcott, the local inspector, stated this morning that the Elgin movements are not being discriminated against, but that they will be allowed to remain in service whenever they come up to the requirements, and employes will be allowed to purchase them if they so desire.

THE SAILOR WAR.

The feeling between the union and non-union sailors in this harbor is very high, and the troubles of the past week have strained the relations even more, so that the men on both sides are constantly on the lookout for each other. Fights are of daily occurrence along Water street and the docks, and the union is making a strenuous effort to prevent vessels being manned with non-union men.

DOUBLE CASE FOR DAMAGES.

The cases of Fred. Prentice against the Pennsylvania Railroad company and Alonzo Chesbrough against the Pennsylvania company, were taken up in Judge Pugsley's court this morning. They are both actions to recover $10,000 damages for the condemnation of right of way along Maumee river. To save time and expense, on agreement of counsel, both cases were tried at the same time.

IMPROVING THE BELT.

When the council passes the ordinance granting to the Robisons the right to construct double track on Lagrange avenue, between Bancroft and Bartlett streets, as will be done at the next meeting of the boards, the company intend to build the track as soon as possible. This will make the Belt line double track for the greater part of its distance and one of the best equipped lines in the city.

COMPANY A'S HOP.

A grand military ball will be given by Company A, Sixteenth regiment, O. N. G., at Memorial hall, on Thursday evening, Nov. 5. It will be one of the social events of the season. Lieut. Frank C. Roshong heads the committee on arrangments, Col. H. S. Bunker and Capt. J. M. Weier the reception, and Sergeant F. Stock the floor.

DULL WEEK IN MARINE.

The past week was a dull one in the harbor and shipments were lighter than usual. The tugs spent a good part of the time tied up to the dock, as when but few vessels are moving there is but little for them to do. There are several good sized carriers at both coal docks to-day, some of which will get away before morning.

WHO IS BEING CHEATED?

The Bee stated yesterday that it was intimated that in some way the city gas lines were connected with Northwestern mains. There was some foundation, it seems, for the report. For instance, at Meinert's it is said the lines unite before reaching the furnaces and each or both can be used at will, or one can be turned into the other.

CADETS HOLD A MEETING.

The Toledo Cadets dispensed with their regular drill last evening and met to make arrangements for their annual entertainment. It was decided to hold it for three nights in about six weeks. They will have the use of the entire Memorial building. Each evening after the entertainment there will be dancing, refreshments and other amusements. A musical comedy will be written for the occasion.

FOR THE EPWORTH LEAGUE.

Last evening the Arion Concert company gave a pleasing entertainment at the Clark Street M. E. church. Among those who participated were Signor F. Anlitta, who charmed the audience with his finished violin playing, Mr. and Mrs. Scammell in recitations, Will Stackhouse at the piano. Geo. W. Leibius, and Mrs. Bert St. John in solos. It was an excellent performance and a good sum as netted for the Epworth League.

SEPTEMBER WEATHER.

The meteorological summary for last month prepared by the Toledo weather office shows the mean barometer to have been 30.17, with 30.425 on the 10th as the highest and 29.936 on the 28th as the lowest. The mean temperature was 69 degrees; 92 degrees on the 24th was the highest and 46 degrees on the 8th the lowest. This was the warmest September since 1884. West was the prevailing direction of the wind, with a total movement of 5,955 miles. Total precipitation, 84 inches. During the month there were 22 cloudless days, five partly cloudy and three cloudy.

THE JEWISH HOLIDAYS.

To-day opens the Jewish New Year. Last evening the event was appropriately observed at the Tenth street temple, which was crowded to the doors. Many members of the gathering came miles to be present, as itis a most important occasion with them. Rabbi Browne delivered a strong sermon in keeping with the event. A week from to-morrow comes the day of atonement or Yom Kipur, on which occasion services will be held all day at the Tenth Street temple, and the day will be observed as well at the other places of Hebrew worship in the city.

THEY ARE HUSTLING.

With the exception of coroner, the people's party ticket for Lucas county is now complete, and is as follows: For representatives, W. H. Dennis and J. A. Asper, city; W. G. Farnsworth, Waterville; treasurer, Hugh O'Reilly, city; commissioner, W. H. Strong, Java; sheriff; Samuel Montgomery, city; infirmary director, Wm. B. Campbell (colored), city. The senatorial nominees of the people's party for the Thirty-third district are M. W. Sackett, Putnam county, and Thomas Sackett, Wood county. In the city an active club of the supporters of the party has been formed, and its membership is busily circulating campaign literature among the farmers of the county and wage workers of the city. The club will also arrange for some out-of-doors meetings with speaking and good music. The regular meetings of the club have been up to the present time held in Carpenter's hall on Monday evenings. Owing to the fact that a great many labor organizations meet on that evening, the club night will now be changed, and after next week the meetings will be in Walbridge hall, every Thursday evening.

Will the republican organs of this senatorial district please print Borick's war record. The veterans would like to know something about it.

We presume there is only one German citizen in Toledo who ever was mean enough to deny his nationality. That man is Chrles A. Flickinger, one of the republican candidates for representative.

Just one safe admonition and advice to democratic voters—put an X on your ballot on the margin at the head of the democratic state ticket and you will not make a mistake. It will be counted straight.

Ex-Gov. Foraker has an appointment to speak in Toledo but Senator Sherman is left out. Why this discrimination? Brown and Austin and Waldorf should have a meeting of their own for the distinguished senator.

If it be true, as charged, that Blaine promised Brazil he would not make a reciprocity treaty with Spain, and then went and did it, as appears likely, Brazil has a right to grumble. It is dishonest statesmanship on the part of the Secretary. Query is, does that official have such power, without limitation?

Census Superintendent Porter makes very weak defense for himself against the charges of the Civil Service Reform League, as regards his appointment of enumerators. The people would not grumble so much at the partisanship displayed, that was expected; but they do complain of the bungling work done in too many instances.

Washington dispatches say the president will make no important appointments until after the fall elections. He is afraid he will make a blunder. No doubt the decision is a wise one on his part, but what about Mr. Blair? His "term of probation" as minister to China expires soon and he will be a fortnight or so without salary from the United States treasury.

Some of the better republican newspapers are opposed to testing the constitutionality of the ballot reform law in the present partisan supreme court. Such journals read public sentiment aright. They realize that the people will not allow the free and secret ballot law to be destroyed without the most vigorous and most effective protest that ever was made against any political organization in this state.

As was expected, the reciprocity conference of this government with Canada, postponed by the authorities at Washington to October 12 is again ordered and indefinitely. The Canadian Parliament rushed its business through to be ready to meet this, supposedly, honest appointment, and makes no secret of its chagrin at the outcome. It is due solely to political cowardice, and the insincerity and utter failure of Mr. Blaine's measure, ostensibly for the object of extending trade, but really to blind and deceive the people, is every day becoming more apparent.

Senator John Sherman has done remarkably well all his long years of public office holding in steering clear of the breakers of disappointed opponents for office. Some congressmen and senators go upon the rocks early in their public career, and all of them experience more or less trouble in this respect. It appears that this year is Sherman's time, and if he is beaten for re-election, always providing the legislature shall be republican, his defeat will principally be caused by the active antagonism of the disappointed men of his own party. Toledo is a notable place where promises have been disregarded and leaders are disaffected. In Port Clinton there is trouble over the postoffice appointment, though in that particular instance the senator can not expect help, the county and district being safely democratic. Still, Capt. Starr, a gallant soldier, has a large-sized grievance which will strike Senator Sherman many vigorous blows in many republican localities in Ohio. Mr. Forraker is playing with the disappointed ones and is making the most of Uncle John's trouble.

Grant is reciprocity a la Blaine. European countries are reaching both hands for trade with us, but the McKinley law blocks the harbors. Canada has goods for exchange, but we bar her out and she retaliates. But there is Brazil with demoralized commerce, a currency depreciated 50 per cent and, according to the Rio News, "no hopeful sign but the productiveness of the soil" we have made a wonderful commercial treaty with Brazil, say the Blaine followers. But Brazil is already declaring against it. The paper above quoted says:

"We have a custom house problem whose oppressiveness and fatal consequences no one cares to think about, and political problems whose solution is being sought in make-shifts and delays, to the incalculable loss of trade and industry in every part of the country. It is idle to close our eyes to the consequences of such a policy as this! * * There is still time to change the immoral and fatal policy forced upon the country."

Was ever so ridiculous an attempt made to save a party from self-destruction as this same reciprocity patch upon the worst commercial law that was ever written on the statute books of any country? With conditions continually changing, with shortage one year and over-supply the next, with the fickleness of our warring South American neighbors, Secretary Blaine's pottering with free trade on the favored nation plan is the silliest farce of modern politics. And the secretary himself knows it.

General Master Workman Powderly gives his reasons for declining to act on the world's fair commission in accordance with Governor Pattison's appointment. He says:

Three hundred thousand dollars will be expended by Pennsylvania at the world's fair. It will be devoted chiefly to sending on manufactured articles of this state and in payment of the expenses of those who attend the fair in representing Pennsylvania. I did not see and do not now see just how or where will in any way be benefited by the world's fair or by my remaining on the commission. I do not know that the morals of the workmen of this state, the miserable furniture they possess, the rags they wear, the paltry pittance they receive for labor done will be shown up at the world's fair, and from the beginning I have regarded the whole matter as a huge advertisement of the arts, sciences and manufactures in which the articles will be exhibited, while the men who make them will be like the man who fell out of the balloon—"not in it."

The bitter expression of Mr. Powderly is not surprising. His words are the sober truth, however unpalatable. And yet, the laborers of Pennsylvania and all other states of manufactories and mines, are "protected" by special government levy on the rest of the country, paid to the employer for the benefit of the employe. Something is radically wrong, what is it?

There will be regret that Mr. Powderly speaks so hopelessly as to any good he might be able to accomplish for the cause of labor in this state and in a general way, by accepting a place on the commission, but he is a man of keen discrimination and living in the midst of such conditions as he describes, daily beholding the gulf between prince and peasant widening in his own country of "free and equal rights," he has a pretty clear understanding of the situation. We must make the world's fair a success, but the people have a yet greater work to perform in winning back and maintaining their rights. The time is approaching when the effort must be made, and the ballot is the weapon of aggression and defense.

Col. Shepard is on the rampage again. As self-appointed vice-gerent of the ruling powers of heaven and earth and the United States of America, his responsibilities quite overwhelm him. It is the Union Theological seminary he has in his hydrophobine clutch now for a shaking. Probably not since he succeeded (for a day) in prohibiting the cheap cabs on Fifth avenue of a Sunday because their rattle over the stones desecrated the Sabbath and disturbed those who rode to church in carriages, has he had so good an opportunity to make a spectacle of himself. He proclaims aloud that his newspaper "to-day stands up for the Old Bible," and calls upon the Presbytery of New York

"To stay the contumacious hands which, disregarding the opinion of the general assembly of the church, would persevere in their horrid effort to rend it in pieces."

The colonel is a slinger equal in some respects to the David of sacred history. When he slings an adjective it hits somewhere. For instance, the "horrid" of the above paragraph; it has all the reckless abandon of the slang of a watering place habitue. This demand of the general director of sublunary and supernal affairs is weak, in that it fails to instruct the New York Presbytery how it shall proceed to "stay the contumacious hands that would rend," etc. He accuses Dr. Vincent of casting doubt upon the inspiration of the Second Epistle of Peter solely to help out "Briggs, Brown and Parkhurst," and throws the following text at the seminary professors:

"The Lord knoweth how to reserve the unjust unto the day of judgment to be punished. Presumptuous are they, self-willed, they are not afraid to speak evil of dignities."

Expressing a belief that they want it expunged to save themselves from condemnation, for says he:

"It is very well known, and probably will not be denied be Rev. Dr. Charles H. Parkhurst, that he has been abusing Noah, Abraham and others of the patriarchs, and if this is not speaking evil of dignities, what is it?"

A reverend doctor who would "abuse Noah and the patriarchs" deserves to be thrust by the colonel's bodkin. They will be abusing Mr. Shepard himself if they are not summarily dealt with.

Things are worse than common everyday observers imagine. The Union seminary is "suffering emeciation" and a "Dark Ages conspiracy" is being brewed in its class rooms. "The professors study the writings of the fathers too much," which same "are full of snares, gins and pitfalls."

If things go on in this "horrid" fashion it would seem that "the jaw bone of an ass" has lost its power to slay.

BRIGHT FOR DEMOCRACY.

Judge Moore, of Ottawa, Talks Politics Briefly.

Strength of the People's Party Waning—Democrats Alert and Enthusiastic—Indications of Victory.

Judge J. J. Moore of Ottawa is in the city, and although he does not often stop to discuss politics, he said to a Bee in response to a question:

"I am certain of one thing and that is that democrats are very energetic and enthusiastic this year. There have never been brighter prospects for a glorious democratic victory, and for this reason our party is aggressive, much more so in fact than is usually the case. I have been over northwestern Ohio pretty generally and find the same state of affairs existing in every neighborhood."

"What of the strength of the people's party?"

"I do not apprehend that it will show much strength in this section of the state. The leaders of that movement fired their greatest guns some time ago, and the movement is now apparently retrograding instead of advancing. It is a mighty hard matter to convince farmers that they ought to drop their old parties, especially when they have everything so plentiful and get as good prices as they do this year. Gov. Campbell is making an energetic campaign, and it ought to be a winner. The principles for which he stands are unquestionably the right ones, and right always triumphs in time."

A DRAMA IN REAL LIFE.

Unexpected Meeting and Tragic Parting of Two Lovers.

At the union depot in Chicago there recently occurred a dramatic incident those who witnessed will not forget.

Among the passengers leaving the train just in from the south was a distinguished looking gentle man, and clinging to his arm was a beautiful girl.

To take the Joliet train there came down the steps a burly officer in citizen's clothes, and by his side was the former society favorite, George Lipe, convicted of forging his mother's name to valuable documents, who, in spite of all the influence brought to bear, will have to serve his term in the penitentiary.

A steel band was on out the prisoner's wrist, attached to another about the officer's wrist. The two couples met directly in front of the big gates.

"O, papa!" exclaimed the girl, as her face lighted up with pleasure, "here is George come to meet us after our long long journey."

She rushed forward to meet the convict, and impetuously grabbed both hands. The shock that the sight of the manacles produced was positively frightful. Her great eyes opened, her face blanched, she tried to speak but could not, and then she fell fainting into the arms of her father, who bore her to

The convict during this ordeal was a pitable looking object. The girl was his fiancee, who had been in Mexico all the More New York Bankers Behind the Bars.

The Orange Savings Bank, of Kingston, Closed by Order of the United States Government.

Kingston, N. Y., Oct. 3.—As a result of an examination carried on for several days by bank examiners, the Orange Savings bank of Kingston did not open for business to-day.

Treasurer Ostrander of the bank was recently arrested, charged with misappropriating $75,000 of the funds, and this caused a run, but the flurry ceased on the announcement being made by men in a position to know, that the bank was sound.

Ostrander is out on bail. It is now stated that the examination of the bank's affairs shows Ostrander and Assistant Treasurer Matthew Trumpdorf to be short in their accounts between $475,000 and $500,000. Trumpdorf has also been arrested and Ostrander's bondsmen have given him up.

THE YS MEET.

Good Work Done Under Auspices of the Y. W. C. T. U.

The regular monthly meeting of the Y. W. C. T. Union was held in the First Congregational church yesterday afternoon, Miss Jennie A. Stewart president, Miss Nettie Marker secretary.

The devotional exercises were led by Miss Van Etten.

The report of the executive committee was read by the secretary of the committee, Miss Kate Kenyon.

The report showed there had been 35 visits paid since the last meeting, 15 garments given away, and 105 bouquets distributed. The receipts had been $23.30 cents had been given away and $1.50 had been lent. Good reading had been taken to the Helping Hand mission, the infirmary, jail and Newsboys' house.

The Ys kindergarten at the Helping Hand mission had an average attendance during the month of 14, highest number 20, lowest 12. For this mission as well as for general distribution in other places good literature is greatly needed, which the citizens of Toledo are earnestly requested not to forget.

Alternate delegates to the state convention of the W. C. T. U. were appointed: Mrs. Ellery Eaton, Mrs. Dr. Barber, and Misses Gertrude Hunter and Bessie Caine.

After appointment of committees and reception of names of new members, the young ladies listened to a very pleasant talk by Marion Isabella Gibson, on the work of women evangelists in Paris.

The president announced that a meeting would be held by the Ys at the infirmary on Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock, and the meeting adjourned.

The next meeting will be held in the same church at 4 o'clock, first Friday in November, when Miss Lulu Heston will read a paper on "Beverages; Water a Necessity of Life."

FOSTER ON THE WEATHER

He Tells of the Storms for October.

Much Rainfall Expected in the Next Ten Days.

The Professor Tells Why the Hot Wave Was So Intense in September—Science Notes—The Electric Theory.

Special to the Bee

St. Joseph, Mo., Oct. 3.—In my last letter I mentioned an important storm period extending over the first half of October, and gave the dates, 1st to 5th, on which the first storm wave of the month would cross the continent.

From 5th to 7th clearing weather may be expected to cross the continent from west to east, and the next storm wave will be due to leave the Pacific coast about the 7th, cross the central valleys from 8th to 10th and reach the Atlantic coast about the 11th. Following this storm I expect the turn to come toward wintry weather.

Not all over the country, as has been stated by some, but beginning in the highlands of Colorado and the Dakotas and gradually reaching the central valleys much earlier than is usual.

I also expect that frosts will about complete the destruction of tender vegetable growths as far south as Jacksonville, Mobile and San Antonio.

The September drouth and heat of the central valleys will have disappeared, and the first two storm waves of October, 1st to 11th, will produce more rain in the west than did all those of September. The October storm waves will take routes more to the south than did those of September. September storms spent their greatest force in Europe.

Weather and Science Notes.

The hot wave in the west from September 12 to 24th did not accord with my calculations. I overlooked an important element. During that hot period the atmosphere on and surrounding the western continents took up a vast amount of moisture by evaporation from the seas. Electric energies were very great and our atmosphere experienced great expansion; consequently the atmosphere carries a vastly increased amount of moisture that must come down again as snow and rain during the fall and winter as our earth moves away from the electric currents through which it has been passing.

The earth and lesser planets were in position to cause cooler weather after September 12, but Saturn and Jupiter had not occupied similar positions relative to the earth and sun for 59 years, and the records of 1832 being very imperfect, I was at a loss to know what their influences would be. The earth was near its equinox and passing nearly through the centers of the planes of the equator of these two great planets, and consequently nearly through the centers of their greatest electrical influences. On this account I felt some uncertainty, but was conscious of the fact that while an error would greatly injure me, the prediction might influence producers to hold their products, in which case I well knew that they would obtain better prices.

The general failure of crops in Europe, Asia and almost all countries outside of our own will cause a greater demand than the United States will be able to supply and whatever tends to holding American crops will aid in bringing better prices to our producers and therefore if my predictions of early frosts in the northwest were not fully verified the prediction was on the side of our own people and the mistake hurts no one but myself.

Crop reports are too much in the interest of speculators and this tampering with the reports is making them wholly unreliable. It is well known, however, that a great failure has occurred in foreign crops and I am still of opinion that the product of our cotton, corn, wheat and other staple articles has been overestimated. We want all the gold of foreign countries we can get by fair means and this is our opportunity. Hold your products for better prices.

The Electric Theory.

Henry Raymond Rogers, of Dunkirk, N. Y., is gaining quite a reputation as a scientific writer. His "New Philosophy of the Sun," published in 1886, attracted considerable attention. He recently read a paper before the Chautauqua society of History and Natural Science, a paper that is worthy of wide circulation and I give it below:

"Science asserts that the moon shines with a borrowed light, a light reflected from the sun." Science also asserts that the 93,000,000 miles between the sun and moon is utter darkness; that the moon is dead, having no atmosphere, no water, no clouds, no life in any form; that it is a stupendous cinder fitted with countless craters of extinct volcanoes. Cant adictory and incongruous as these theories are, none the less are they universally accepted to-day.

But science is fallible and such inconsistencies must lead to the grave result of rendering suspicious all our theories pertaining to universal space and its contents. To add to the distrust these theories awaken it is now found that the telescope, which has hitherto furnished the basis for our conceptions of the moon, is not to be relied upon. Prof. Holden, the astronomer in charge of the new Lick telescope, the largest in the world, says of that instrument: "There is no object in the heavens which we must not observe as if viewed for the first time. It has opened a new vista of the creation. It compels us to learn everything anew. Even the most familiar of supposed facts revealed by other telescopes, as the moon for example, are found in this great revelator to be not facts but errors."

That the moon receives nothing from the sun which freely passes through the darkness and cold of space and which is sent outward to the earth by reflection, is unquestionable, as is also the additional fact that our atmosphere is awakened to its beautiful moonlight effects by this reflected current.

Although scientists make no pretense of asserting the presence of any element or substance in the composition of the moon, which is capable of producing actual reflection, yet, nevertheless, it is legitimate to infer that the moon has a medium which possesses reflecting powers adequate for all supposed necessities. The question arises: What is that reflecting medium? and the answer is drawn from analogy.

No one will claim that the clear, dull body of the moon which science depicts, is capable of reflecting the currents which it receives from the sun. It is now demonstrable that electrical currents, instantaneously and incessantly, come from the sun to the earth and, through the resistance offered by our atmosphere, the currents become awakened into dazzling light and burning heat. Only an atmosphere is capable of thus reflecting the sun's vivifying currents. We may, therefore, legitimately infer that atmospheres are indispensable to visibility in all worlds and that a moon without an atmosphere would not be visible. The same is equally true of the sun itself. Inferentially, therefore, the moon possesses an atmosphere with all the concomitants of an atmosphere, heat, light, animal life with intelligence, vegetable and mineral life, the property of reflection of great cosmical currents, etc.

Direct electrical sun currents come through the cold of space and develop atmospheric light and heat at the moon as well as at the earth, and in either case there is reflection, making each a moon for the other. Such electrical sun currents reflected from the moon to the earth develop in the earth's atmosphere its beautiful moonlight; therefore, instead of the moon being dead, it is undoubtedly another world of action like unto the earth.

The moon, awakened out of its Rip Van Winkle obscurity which science hitherto has succeeded in relegating it, henceforth should be accorded a more just and honorable position among the members of the celestial family.

Dr. Rogers is striking many effective blows at the fast failing nebular theory and is doing able service for the electrical theory. We hope to hear from him often. W. T. FOSTER.

THE CIRCUIT COURT

Handed Down Decisions This Morning.

The Boyle Libel Case Remanded Back for Another Trial—Other Decrees.

The circuit court convened this morning in Judge Harmon's room in common pleas court and at 10 o'clock handed down several decisions.

There was a goodly attendance of legal talent present, and a sprinkling of others curious to learn what disposition would be made of the Boyle and Quigley cases, as it had been reported that opinions in these cases would be handed down.

The first case disposed of was that of City of Toledo against Andrews by Judge Haynes, involving the assessment for sewerage on Collingwood avenue, which was made against property owned by the defendant. The appeal was dismissed.

The next was a motion to make personal representatives of the plaintiff, deceased party defendant in error, in the case of Gottlieb Recker against the L. S. & St. S. Railway company. The motion was sustained.

The next was the case of Ernest Herman against Julius Meyer, an action to recover $600 alleged by the plaintiff below to have been fraudulently and unlawfully obtained from his wife. A verdict allowing the plaintiff $250 and other relief was returned in the court below. The case was appealed to circuit court and the opinion was that the cause was an appealable one.

The motion to dismiss an attachment on certain property in Lucas county in the case of Wm. Starkey against C. K. Woodward, to recover $374 on a note, was granted and decision of court below reversed. The attachment was issued by the court below on the affidavit that the defendant intended to transfer the property into cash, and place it out of reach of the plaintiff.

Much interest was manifested when Judge Bentley announced that he would give the opinion in the case in error of Patrick Boyle against the State of Ohio, appealed to the circuit court on the verdict returned by the common pleas court wherein he, the plaintiff in error, was charged and convicted of criminal and malicious libel.

After outlining the pleadings, Judge Bentley hurriedly reviewed and touched upon the exceptions to evidence in the case, there being over 40 in number.

The court held that the court below did not err in the admission of evidence relating to the responsibility of the plaintiff as president and manager of the Commercial, but the rulings were especially somewhat remote. He cited to conversation of the plaintiff in error along and subsequent to the date of the alleged libel, but could not hold that the court erred.

All objections noted to evidence were overruled with the exception of one or two instances.

The various authorities and statutes having a bearing in the case were then quoted.

The court next reviewed and commented on the charge of the court below, and the various requests to charge and objections entered.

In closing Judge Bently said the court thought that the charge below should have embodied instruction in regard to the question of qualified privilege; that the jury should have been instructed to determine whether the article or libel was published with malicious intent. The court thought the jury should have been instructed in regard to the responsibility or liability of the proprietor or manager of a newspaper, in case that it be found that he wasn't the person who caused the libel inserted. The court stated further that there has been no exceptions noted to the charge of the court in this particular, which the court held as inadequate. It was then considered competent and proper that the court below erred, and therefore the judgment and sentence of that court was reversed, verdict of the jury set aside, and cause remanded back for new trial.

Thou shouldst have sung the swan song for thy choir
That filled our groves with music till the day
Lit the last hill-top with its reddening fire
And evening listened for thy lingering lay.

But thou hast found thy voice in realms afar,
Where strains celestial blend their notes with thine;
Some cloudless sphere beneath a happier star
Welcomes the bright-winged spirit we resign.

This singer, whom we have long held so dear,
Was Nature's darling, shapely, strong and fair—
Of keenest wit of judgment crystal-clear—
Easy of converse, courteous, debonair.

Fit for the loftiest or the lowest lot—
Self-poised, imperial, yet of simplest ways,
At home alike in castle cot—
True to his aim, let others blame or praise.

Freedom he found an heirloom from his sires;
Songs, letters, statecraft, shared his years in turn;
All went to feed the nation's altar-fires
Whose mourning children wreathe his funeral urn.

He loved New England—people, language, soil—
Unweaned by exile from her arid breast.
Farewell awhile, white-handed son of toil;
Go with her brown-armed laborers to thy rest.

Peace to thy slumber in the forest shade!
Poet and patriot, every gift was thine;
Thy name shall live while summers bloom and fade,
And grateful Memory guard thy leafy shrine!

OLE OLSON IS COMING.

Attractions at the Theaters Next Week.

A Swedish Comedian—The Minstrels Wednesday Evening—Roger La Honte at Wheeler's.

Next week the many admirers of genuine comedy will have an opportunity of witnessing the most novel and entertaining dramatic composition that the stage has known in recent years, when Ole Olson will be at the People's. The company includes several artists who have national reputations as mirth provokers. There are but few of the nationalities who have escaped dramatization, and it only remained for an enterprising playright to dramatize the Swede. The piece contains a well defined plot and a number of highly interesting scenes and some exceedingly clever specialties. Ole Olson sustains its claim as a noveity in that it introduces a Swedish dialect character to the theater-going public. The success of the piece is attested by the enthusiasm which this latest dramatic construction has evoked throughout the country since its conception two years ago. The Swedish character has something about it which is highly interesting to the American public. The Swede, fresh from his native land, is perfect in every particular, and could hardly be more natural. Ole's special hits are up to his average witty sayings, and he endeavors at all times to adhere strictly to the truth. His make-ups and costumes are very amusing. This part is in the hands of Mr. Ben Hendricks, who was for three years Minnie Palmer's leading comedian, and who is a character actor of much merit. He invests the role with a spirit and zest that has stamped him as the best Ole the production has ever known. Alice Evans, formerly the Baggage with Hoyt's Brass Monkey, essays the soubrette role of Genie Dimple, and completely captivates the public with her winning ways and exquisite voice. Another strong feature of the play is the vocal selections rendered by the original National Swedish Ladies' Quartette, from Stockholm, who will appear at each performance in the national costume and render a nuber of choice songs in the Swedish tongue.

The Gormans.

Wednesday evening the Gormans will treat Toledoans with a first-class minstrel performance at Wheeler's opera house. The Gormans have originated many things new in minstrelsy, and their company always gives a good performance. They have some clever people with them this season.

Roger La Honte Coming.

Roger La Honte will be presented at Wheeler's Friday and Saturday, October 9 and 10. The piece was originally produced in Paris where it had a continuous run of several hundred nights. The story is one of interest to every theater-goer, for not only is the plot or story interesting from the point of a few hours' pleasure, but it is instructive as well, dealing with French life and customs of the present day. The story of Roger La Honte is founded on a novel under the same title by the celebrated French romancer, M. Geiser, dramatized in its present form and adapted for the American stage from the French of Jules Mary. The company is fully up to the requirements of the play.

PROGRESS IN STREET PAVING.

More Than Twenty Miles Paved During the Current Year.

There has been a wonderful amount of street paving done in this city this year, and nearly half a million dollars has been expended for that purpose. The work on all the contracts is well along and will be finished up before cold weather sets in.

Contractor John Streicher said to a Bee to-day: "Toledo has had more street paving this year than she has had for years, and more than she will have for a few years to come, in my opinion.

"Nearly if not quite 20 miles of street have been paved this year, and over $400,000 has been spent for that purpose. That is a big pile of money, and it is no wonder the finances are exhausted. The city owes me nearly $90,000 for work done which I cannot get until it is paid in. The banks have been carrying the contractors or we would have been in bad shape long before this. I like to see street improvement go on as well as any man, but the general opinion seems to be that work in this line will be suspended for a year or two until the city catches up. The Asphalt paving, of course, will not stop, as they can arrange it without ready cash if that is necessary. Toledo is now one of the best paved cities anywhere in comparison with its size. Most of the paving has been well done and will be durable."

AS OTHERS SEE US.

A McArthur Newspaper Man Makes a Note or Two.

This week's issue of the Democrat-Enquirer, published at McArthur, Ohio, has this to say of a recent visit to Toledo:

A lack of space last week prevented a mention of the City of Toledo, the northern end of the C., H. V. & T. railroad. Toledo is celebrated as the home of Hon. Frank Hurd, a great apostle of democracy, and the former residence of General James B. Steedman, a leader of the democracy in ante bellum days, known to the old soldiers as "Old Chickamauga." The monument erected to his memory on Summit street by the munificence of Mr. Finlay, is a splendid tribute to his courage, ability and patriotism.

Toledo, since our last visit, has vastly improved. One of the finest and longest of iron bridges in Ohio for general travel, nows spans the Maumee, while another railroad bridge or two have been erected in recent years. The postoffice building is a handsome structure, and costly as granite, marble and fine work could make it. Toledo keeps on "spreading" herself in manufacturers of various kinds, and the commerce is evidently increasing, her shipping on the water front now reaching several miles nearer the Michigan line than it did a few years ago. The population in 1890 was 81,-434, but then these were Porter's figures.

BOULANGER'S REMAINS.

Brussels, Oct. 3.—A number of photographs of Boulanger's remains have been taken as they rest in the casket. The coffin is composed of three cases. The innermost one, is of lead, lined with white satin. On the lid is a large mahogany cross and copperplate on which is simply inscribed "General Boulanger."

A rapid advance must certainly take place immediately, when we close our sale. OCTOBER.

O, autumn world! my ravished eyes
Drink in with rapture and surprise
The glory of October dyes.

O leaves aflame! my ravished ear
From out your depths can surely hear
The voice of God in accents clear.

As when the prophet's heart was stirred
By voice divine, and holy word
That from the "burning bush" he heard.

O! earth transfigured, glorious, grand!
Touched by the fire of God ye stand
A miracle fresh from His hand!

LIFE IN DEATH.

Oh, as white as a sheet was the meadow with frost,
And the birch-trees were bare on the hill,
While the marigolds—orange and yellow and brown—
In the garden were blossoming still.

And the blossoms lie dead with the weeds,
And there's nothing that's left of my marigold flowers
But a handful of marigold seeds.
But the little dwarf winter-time days will go by,
And the dreary black nights will depart
And the peewee will call in the alder again,
And the grass by the brook-side will start,
And the blossoms will feel the warm touch of the sun,
And will hear the soft voice of the showers,
For all hidden away in the marigold seeds
Are the souls of new marigold flowers.

The golden October is with us again, "October, orchard of the year," one prose poet has denominated it. The odor of ripe fruit, mature foliage and gorgeous fall flowers is in the air, the dreamy haze is in the sunshine. It is nature hiding herself in a soft illusive veil as she gently disrobes to await the garbing of a new season—the second costume of grass and clover, the St. Bartholemew violets, the red haws of the roses, the fringes of the gentian, and, later, the ermine of the snow and the frost diamonds. And nature, like the rest of us has to await the coming of her tardy modiste, so she just enjoys herself in her ganzy robe de chambre in the interim. And there be artists who declare she is never so lovely as when thus lightly mantled.

So we all pause on the breezy hillside for a retrospective view and a look ahead. Whatever we have been, whatever we have said, whatever done during the summer that has just slipped away from us—casting her melting smiles behind—is gone past recall. We may modify effects possibly, of our mistakes, but the long earnest glance is ahead. Not so much what we have done as what we shall do.

One thing is quite certain. Our good Householders (and you would be surprised to see the long list of their names and hear them counted) are not tucked away in quiet nooks of an afternoon or evening, relating their experiences for the Bee family. Now if the hostess doesn't watch herself this may develop into a bit of a scold. In the first place, good sisters, do you realize what space in a newspaper is worth, money value? Ask some live advertiser and he will enlighten you to your surprise and satisfaction. Well, then, when the editor of a popular daily and weekly journal sets aside three or four columns for the benefit and entertainment of women, young and old, of the homes, the school room, the shop and the store, hasn't he done a generous deed? The most successful women departments, or as they are habitually called, "Households," in any paper are those where the greatest number of bright and active minds are interested to the extent of participation. And now do you see what your hostess is aiming at? She asks a new interest in this, our "best household of them all," to keep it up to its high standard, or first we know the door will be closed upon us, and we may go sorrowfully away pondering upon the fact that the editor has been kind and patient and helpful and hopeful for a long season, and we have gotten just what we deserve.

Really, do our contributors fully appreciate what such a privilege means in its fullest scope? Not only does it invite us to exchange ideas on a thousand and one subjects that appertain to woman's life and work, but it gives opportunity, also, for us to improve ourselves in a literary way, learn better methods of expression, to say what we mean briefly, well and to the point. There are many incidental advantages which we may well consider. When a person is learning to write well she is also schooling herself to think well and to talk well.

Then, my dear Household sisters, it should be considered a high privilege and one to be eagerly taken advantage of, to become a member of the Bee Household—an active member. Not only to have your name enrolled on the book, but to attend the weekly meetings as often as circumstances will permit. And to reason yourselves into understanding that if occasionally your communication gets cut down, or possibly laid aside, it is for good reason, and that you are just as kindly welcomed when you knock again.

By the testimony of too many to call by name, the Bee Household has stood at the head of such newspaper departments, and its success is primarily due to its splendid corps of contributors. And now that the heat of the summer is over and we begin to "think seriously" again, the hostess hopes to see the old interest awakened and the old faces with new ones, in the family circle.

Never before, since the world's history has been written were there so many things of vital importance to women, to talk about. This has been aptly called "woman's century." She who sleeps and dreams now falls behind in the procession. The time has come when kitchens, babies, house sanitation, sensible clothing, home influence, house furnishing and woman's work wherever she finds herself placed, is acknowledged to be of as much importance as ward caucuses and the details of governmental management—in fact, the topics mentioned and dozens more with them are getting intricately mixed in the world of discussion and in the new adjustment of place and labor for men and women.

Then, indeed, does it behoove us, if we have honest desire to best serve our day and generation, best honor ourselves and our posterity, to let slip no chance for the attainment of knowledge, wherever the lines may fall to us, and for individual advancement in this progressive age.

There was one thing the Pacific Women's Press association, which has been holding its annual convention in San Francisco did which can be most heartily approved; there were many things, to be sure, but the one meant just now is, they called themselves "women writers." "Lady journalists" are numerous; the term women writers shows an appreciation of the work in the field, which they are able to perform and of that which is yet to be accomplished.

This association consists of 150 members, forty of whom are actively engaged in editorial work and all are to greater or less extent contributors to periodicals, east and west. The papers of the city compliment their methods and give full details of their proceedings. Some of the thoughts from a paper by "Di Vernon" (Miss Eliza D. Keith) are worth repeating. She said, of literary tendencies:

The three volume novels of our grandmothers have been put behind the newer books on the library shelves. Clarissa Harlowe must be blue-pencilled unsparingly to be read at all. The "Children of the Abbey" could not find a publisher to-day, unless as a serial in a flash weekly. Fanny Burney's "Evelina," yes, even "Jane Eyre" itself, would share the same fate. Women, as writers, must address themselves to women of the present day. The woman of the present day is more interested in the latest fashion than in the headgear pictured on the tombs. A newly invented baking pan, or a perforated pie-plate, is of far more account than a long dissertation on how the ancient Egyptians baked their bread.

In choosing subjects women should never belittle their own sex. It is mean, cowardly, contemptible, vulgar. The role of Judas is a masculine one. Women can choose for their subject the sanitary condition of the household and schoolhouse. They should stand by and support by their influence the board of education. Women are the inspiration of a nation's patriotism. It was a mother who said to her Spartan soldier boy, "with your shield, or on it." The mother must teach her children patriotism in the nursery. Teach them to be Americans, to sing patriotic songs, float the flag on the school-house dome, watch and wait for national holidays, fly the flag everywhere and have for a motto "Our flag is there."

With these conclusions and suggestions we can all agree. Only yesterday "Elsie" came in and chanced to remark that she was re-reading "Jane Eyre," after an interval of a good number of years, but the task was too great for her; she couldn't waste time in finishing it. The old illusion of her childhood days was completely vanished. Charlotte Bronte could never make fame in the latter half of the 19th century with such literary productions.

* * *

And we say yea and amen to the patriotic sentiments. We are become so accustomed to the blessings of life in a free country we forget what it all means, forget to be thankful and vigilant, forget what the boon cost the patriots who have gone before. To teach patriotism in home speech and literature is a solemn parental duty. The greatest influences for good to the country emanate from the homes where future voters are being trained for their responsible duties. And this is why mothers cannot afford to be narrow minded, trusting to others the training of their children, content in the belief that their duty is done when their children are clothed and fed. With woman's enlarged sphere of rights, privileges and duties come weightier responsibilities. But to meet them bravely is to strengthen character, expand understanding and enjoy a larger life in every particular.

Sympathy with the Children.

Sometimes one fixes a fault by noticing it too much. It becomes an expression of nervousness. The child repeats the fault through an inability to pass over it. It becomes like a hard word in the spelling-book that he has met before. He recognizes the word without knowing its name, and at the same moment remembers his struggles with it, and the painful impression fills him with nervousness; his mind becomes confused, and he cannot control his thought. It is wise with a fault as with a hard word, to let it go, to escape it. Omit the hard word; avoid anything to excite the habitual fault. Presently the child forgets the fault. It may be said that injudicious parents often create their children's faults.

Paste This in Your Hat.

There is not enough joy in this struggling world. So few people have time for it; but children, happy children, who are brought up in a sympathetic atmosphere, in the infinite leisure that is theirs, have an immense capacity for joy. How can we deny ourselves that enriching spectacle—joyous child? The capacity for joy is one of the highest of the human faculties, and it is grossly neglected. We walk too much with our feet in graves. Let us laugh with the children and be young.

Frances E. Willard makes the following suggestions as to methods best calculated to promote a higher morality among men and women: (1) Co-education—the training with each other of those formed for each other, that their intellectual sympathy may be increased and their mutual estimate based on a more thorough knowledge than society affords; (2) the financial independence of women, so they may not be tempted to marry in order to secure support; (3) reform in dress, that women may have better health, greater vigor, and thus enter upon home life under more hopeful conditions; and (4) equal suffrage, that women's influence and character may re-act upon government so as to secure more just laws for home protection and heavier penalties against those who assail the physically weaker.

Servants and Mistresses.

If you show a kindly interest in her, as if she were more to you than a mere household convenience, and provide her with some pleasant occupation for her leisure hours, you will be more likely to keep her, and what is of more vital importance, to keep her in the paths of rectitude and virtue.

The dismal loneliness of the evenings after work hours is a fruitful source of the ruin of girls. A wise womanly mistress will try to keep the girl at home out of the reach of the idle, mischievous, and vicious of both sexes.

Kindness and sympathy, and an admission of the fact that servants are in point of fact our fellow-creatures, in no whit different from ourselves in all the attributes of a common humanity, and that we are our brothers' keeper so far as our lives touch theirs at any point, will do more to repeal the defective domestic system than all the legislation that man can do. The mistress must know how to order her own household affairs; she must take the daily oversight of her whole establishment and see that the servant does her various duties faithfully. Instruct her patiently, refuse her kindly, and praise her sincerely. Be just as certain to commend her well-doing as you are to reprove her faults; and then, with a really kind effort to make her life a little better than that of a mere drudge, you will be apt to have a good servant, and to keep her, too.

Servants have not degenerated—for human nature changes no whit—but the methods of training have become less thorough, the style of living has become more complicated, and mistresses know less about domestic matters than in the good old days.

The queen and her daughters know more about making and baking, dairy and laundry work, and other domestic arts, than ninety-nine one hundredths of untitled Americans. Until women learn the dignity of housekeeping, and learn it thoroughly in all its branches, they can not train good servants. Our German cousins understand the science of everyday life—as they do all sciences—much better than we do, and we could learn from them with advantage.

The increase of foreign travel will be very beneficial to the country at large if it teaches our women how the rest of the civilized world regards household matters. Our would-be fine ladies will learn experimentally that the fine ladies abroad do not despise ordering their domestic affairs and looking carefully after the welfare of their children.—Mary E. Bryan.

OVER OUR TEACUPS.

All American women are proud of Julia Ward Howe, of her intelligent advocacy of woman's rights during fifty years of active literary and domestic life. A guest in her house says of her:

"Mrs. Howe bears her years gracefully. She has advocated women's rights in what she claims are their best sense; woman's right to her home, to a fair competition with men, to fair treatment in all walks of business life and the learned professions, and in and out of season she has fought valiantly under that flag. Mrs. Howe is short and not at all masculine looking. Her hair is snowy white, parted in the middle, surmounted by a black cap. Her eyes are gray and soft, and her whole manner is that of a delightful elder sister."

Never give any fertilizer to a plant until it begins to grow. If it is not growing it is because of one of two reasons: Either the plant is resting, and has not got ready to begin growing, or it is not in good health. A plant knows when it is ready to grow, and when it begins to do so, assist it by giving nutriment, not before. A sickly plant is always injured, and often killed, by being stimulated at a time when it is not in condition to make use of the food given. It is like a person with dyspepsia: food cannot be properly digested, and rich food, or too much food, only increases the trouble. Therefore, if a plant seems diseased, or doesn't begin to grow when you think it ought to, examine into its condition and nurse it back to health carefully, instead of gorging it with what it cannot make use of.

Two stock arguments against "women's rights" used to be, "Women can't do military service," and "Women have no inventive genius."

The record of woman's work in the hospitals, in war successfully refuted the one, and reports from the patent office, in late years, meet the other as fairly. Here is a recent clipping:

"In a return recently made to the United States government of the statistics of the patent office at Washington, we learn that from 1790 to July 1, 1888, there were 2,300 patents taken out by women. They embrace all subjects, from dress-improvers to sub-marine telescopes. For 10 years before 1815 there were only two or three female patentees, but every decade since has shown a rapid increase. Probably in last year alone there were nearly 200."

Gone the blazer and the racket,
And the fluffy muslin gown:
Clad in woolen dress and jacket,
"The summer girl" is back in town.

"I don't see why you are so particular about your hair," said a churlish husband, "I don't suppose Eve ever wore bangs." "I don't suppose she ever did," replied the wife with a quiet smile, "but then there was nobody in the world but her husband to admire her." The husband became very thoughtful.

"Some only work with a cotton thread,
And sit all day in the weaving-room:
Some work with the fleecy wool instead,
And some have the richest silk in loom;
Wool, cotton or silk, none need to care,
If only the work be good and fair."

TOLEDO, O., Sept. 5, 1891.

THE COMMITTEE ON WAYS AND MEANS of the Common Council of the City of Toledo, Ohio, and the undersigned invite sealed proposals at this office to

at 7 o'clock p. m. for the purchase of Street Improvement Bonds, to the amount of seventy 87-100 ($70 87-100) dollars, bearing date Aug. 24, 1891, and payable as follows: Seven 87-100 dollars on Feb. 24, 1892, and seven dollars at the expiration of every six months thereafter to and including Aug. 24, 1896, at the office of the city treasurer, with interest at the rate of five (5) per cent per annum, payable semi-annually at the same place as evidenced by coupons to be attached to said bonds.

Said improvement bonds are issued pursuant to section 2704 to 2707 of the Revised Statutes of the State of Ohio, and also under an ordinance of the common council of the City of Toledo, Ohio, "To provide for the Issue of Improvement Bonds to pay the cost and expense of the Improvement of Empire Street, from Adams Street to Vermont Avenue"—passed Aug. 17th, 1891.

The denomination of these bonds will be first payment one bond of $7 87-100, and thereafter one of $7 each payment.

The said Bonds will be sold at not less than par and accrued interest, to the highest bidder.

They will also be required to deposit with each bid an amount of money or a certified check on some responsible bank equal to at least five (5) per centum of the par value of the Bonds so bid for as a guarantee of good faith, and that the bid so made (if successful) will be fulfilled in accordance with the terms thereof, and the requirements of the law and ordinances. When the bids have been examined and the award made according to law, all moneys or checks deposited as guarantees shall be returned to the depositor, or held by the City Auditor subject to his call, except that of the successful bidder, which shall be held and considered and accepted as part payment of the Bonds so awarded or sold, but should there be any repudiation of the contract or agreement, or refusal to accept and pay for the Bonds so sold, then and in that case the deposit shall be forfeited to the City of Toledo, and shall become the property of said city in compensation for loss and expenses attending the sale of said bonds and as liquidated damages for repudiation of bid. And no bid will be received if not accompanied by money or check aforesaid.

The right is reserved to reject any or all bids.

Proposals should be addressed to the "Auditor of the City of Toledo, Ohio," and be indorsed "Proposals for Improvement Bonds."

Queer world! Queer people! Here are men and women by thousands suffering from all sorts of diseases, bearing all manners of pain, swallowing their ills by physicians and "getting no better, but rather worse," when right at hand there's a remedy which says it can help them because it's helped thousands like them. "Another patent medicine advertisement," you say. Yes—but not of the ordinary sort. The medicine is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and it's different from the ordinary nostrums in this:

It does what it claims to do, or it costs you nothing!

The way is this: You pay your druggist $1.00 for a bottle. You read the directions, and you follow them. You get better, or you don't. If you do, you buy another bottle, and perhaps another. If you don't get better, you get your money back. And the queer thing is that it rarely people are willing to be sick when the remedy's so near at hand.

The best article of goods is always the cheapest. TAYLOR'S FLOUR.

"DIVINE" SONNET.

Swinburne in his article on "Social Verse," which is published in the October number of The Forum, maintains that "there is no lovelier sonnet in the world than the late Lord Rosslyn's "Bedtime." " Here is his sonnet which Swinburne esteems so highly:

'Tis bedtime; say your hymn and bid
"Good night,"
"God bless mamma, papa, and dear ones all,"
Your half shut eyes beneath your eyelids fall,
Another minute you will shut them quite.
Yes, I will carry you, put out the light,
And tuck you up, altho' you are no child;
What will you give me, sleepy one, and call
My wages, if I settle you all right?
I laid her golden curls upon my arm,
I drew her little feet within my hand,
Her rosy lallies were joined in trustful bliss,
Her heart next mine beat gently, soft and warm,
She nestled to me, and, by love's command,
Paid me my precious wages—"baby's kiss!"

Swinburne mentions in connection with "this divine sonnet" another by Charles Tennyson-Turner, Lord Tennyson's brother, who died in 1879, as "its equal companion in a blessed immortality." It is called "Letty's Globe:"

When Letty had scarce passed her third glad year,
And her young, artless words began to flow,
One day we gave the child a colored sphere
Of the wide earth, that she might mark and know
By tint and outline all its sea and land.
She patted all the world; old empires peeped
Between her baby fingers; her soft hand
Was wetted at all frontiers; how she leaped
And laughed, and prattled in her pride of bliss!
But when we turned her sweet, unlearned
On our own isle, she raise a joyous cry:
"Oh, yes! I see it—Letty's home is there!"
And while she hid all England with a kiss,
Bright over Europe fell her golden hair.

DICKINSON'S LOVE LETTER

Which Was a Forgery That Brought About Distressing Results.

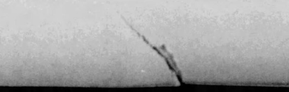
The secretary of one of the city literary clubs read at a recent meeting a letter from Anna Dickinson, which spoke encouragingly of her health and future. After some general talk about Miss Dickinson's earlier success, one of the ladies present said:

"Early in Miss Dickinson's career as a lecturer she visited this city. The chairman of the lecture committee of the association by which she was engaged was an unmarried man, and rather susceptible. He was very attentive to the wants of the lecturer, which included accompanying her to the station, purchasing her ticket, checking her baggage and bidding her an almost affectionate farewell. Miss Dickinson's next stop was at Richmond, where she lectured the next night. The day following her lecture at Richmond the chairman of the Indianapolis lecture committee received a letter, dated at Richmond, purporting to be from Miss Dickinson, in which she said that in meeting the before mentioned susceptible chairman she felt that she had met her "fate," and that it was her right and duty to tell him so, and if he was her true friend, as she felt he was, she would be glad to correspond with him, etc. It was signed, "Thine, A. D."

The chairman never for one moment doubted that the letter was written by Miss Dickinson, and was in the seventh heaven of delight. He worked all night over his answer and expressed his surprise at her letter, fully approved her independence of character in writing him as she had done. He fully reciprocated her feelings and declared that his heart was hers and his hand would be as soon as she named the day. He did her that her letter had made him the happiest man in the whole world, as he would be the most envied when she became his wife, etc.

Judge of Miss Dickinson's surprise when she received the letter which was sent through her agent. She sat down while the enthusiasm of her indignation was above 100 and indited her reply. Miss Dickinson is not entirely destitute of adjectives when her temperature is normal, but when it increases above 100 it is high time for the enemy to retreat. She did not confine herself to the plain language for, be it remembered, she is a Quaker, but called him a fool in the first line and continued her compliments, which she shot at him over four pages of letter paper, a large portion of the same being italicized.

Miss Dickinson, in speaking of the matter long afterward, said "that was the beginning and end of our correspondence—the fool." She never received a reply to her squelcher, but, said the lady who related the story, "I have noticed that the gentleman always attends her lectures when she visits this city and I have always said I would like to give a penny for his thoughts."



SCROFULOUS SORES

Lady Badly Afflicted Three Years Tries Many Doctors Here and in England Without Benefit. Cured by Cuticura.

My wife having suffered from scrofula sores on the back for three years, and at times she could not lie down at night, and she tried all the doctors I could get, and also went to England to try and be cured there, and all of them failed, and told her they could do nothing for her; and having tried all kinds of remedies last year tried one box of your CUTICURA REMEDIES, and to-day she is as well as she ever was in her life, and her back is as clear as any person living, and I for one can recommend CUTICURA REMEDIES as the only one I could find to effect a cure.

G. W. JONES, Constable,
25 Sayles Street, Cleveland, O.

INHERITED SCROFULA

My nose was of a most pronounced crimson hue, the result of inherited scrofula. I suffered untellable mortification daily, and tried enough remedies to stock a drug store without deriving the slightest benefit. I tried the CUTICURA REMEDIES, and the most flattering results followed their use. I am all right now and I cannot find encomiums enough to bestow upon what I know to be the greatest and grandest gifts given by science to man. Please accept the most sincere and grateful thanks of one who has suffered.

ABE DETWILER WINS AS USUAL.

No person in Toledo is much better known or more favorably regarded than is A. K. Detwiler, the hustling head of the firm of I. H. Detwiler & Co. There is nothing Abe is not willing to tackle, and ninety-nine times out of one hundred he brings his venture through to success. He has of late, however, been experimenting with a new scheme, which he has kept very quiet, the heft of the work and practice being done after dark. It took some little while, but as usual he won, and he may now be seen on the street almost any evening riding a bicycle, with full control of the machine, though he says he had quite a tussle to overcome the animal.

HOUSECLEANING HELP. | Let us help to make your parlor look nice by recovering the worn pieces so they will be modern. STOLBERG & PARKS.

CHEATING IN HORSE BLANKETS

Nearly every pattern of 5/A Horse Blanket is imitated in color and style. In most cases the imitation looks just as good as the genuine, but it hasn't the warp threads, and so lacks strength, and while it sells for only a little less than the genuine it isn't worth one-half as much. The fact that 5/A Horse Blankets are copied is strong evidence that they are THE STANDARD, and every buyer should see that the 5/A trade mark is sewed on the inside of the Blanket.
